Bundles of clothes to be issued Chinese POW's as they are processed before being taken to Formosa are piled in the streets near the harbor of Inchon, South Korea. Under present plans, some 22,000 unrepatriated Chinese and North Korean Communists, who have refused to return to their homelands will be turned over to the UN command starting Jan. 20. ## President Okays Italian Cabinet

Fanfani and His Ministers Expected to Receive Slim Approval

Rome, Jan. 18 (AP)—Amintore Fanfani, moderate leftist member of the middle-road Christian Democrat party, today handed President Luigi Einaudi the lineup of a new cabinet he hopes will end Italy's 13-day-old political crisis.

Einaudi immediately signed the decree appointing the new government.

But the 46-year-old Fanfani and his cabinet still must win the approval of Italy's youngest and almost evenly divided parliament. The new premier will face before the 590-member chamber of deputies, in which his party's 262 seats are 34 short of a majority, on Jan. 26 to present his program. The new cabinet will take its oath of office tomorrow.

Youngest Party Premier

Fanfani, former interior minister and the youngest man ever called to Republican Italy's premiership, is expected to win by a narrow margin in the subsequent vote of confidence.

He was asked to form a government after the resignation Jan. 5 of Giuseppe Pella, another Christian Democrat who had governed precariously for five months with monarchist support.

Leftist members of his own party split with Pella, charging he was too far to the right. They called for more liberal economic policies, and particularly a speed-up in the land redistribution program, to counter recent Communist gains.

Except for one independent, the new 19-man government government consists entirely of Christian Democrats.

Protege of De Gasperi

In 35-year-old Giulio Andreotti, it probably has Italy's youngest minister of the interior. Andreotti is a protege of Alcide De Gasperi. He served as under-secretary to that veteran statesman in several of his eight cabinets.

Attilio Piccioni, 61, former vice premier under De Gasperi and a World War I aviation veteran, is the new minister of foreign affairs.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—The position of the treasury Jan. 14: Cash balance, $3,172,332,845.07; budget receipts, fiscal year, July 1, $27,863,534,300.36; budget expenditures, fiscal year, $37,709,447,210.21; budget deficit, $9,845,912,856.85; total debt, $274,948,738,008.48; gold assets, $22,029,754,838.98.

Details Are Planned for Conference

Compromise Assures Session of Foreign Ministers — Deputies Appointed

Berlin, Jan. 18 (AP)—Experts for the Big Four set to work today to plan security and house-keeping details of the Berlin foreign ministers conference. A compromise last night on sites for the session assured that the parley will open on schedule next Monday.

The American, British, French and Russian commanders of the divided city appointed deputies to meet late today to work out detailed arrangements for the conference on German unity and the Austrian peace treaty.

Orders from their home governments ended 10 days of wrangling over the conference site. The three Western military chiefs and Soviet Commandant Sergei Denin agreed last night that the ministers will meet for one week—the second—in the Soviet embassy in East Berlin, and for the first and third weeks in the building in the American sector formerly used by the Allied Control Council.

To Depend on Course
Thereafter, a communiqué said, "the place of meetings will depend upon the course of the conference."

The Russians at first had demanded that half the meetings, including the opening session, be held in East Berlin. The West sought at first to hold only one-fourth of the meetings in the East.

"Let the Russians have a tiny triumph if that is what they regard it to be," one allied spokesman said. "We believe that the main point is to get around the table on Germany and Austria and see if some international agreement can be found."

The "Little Four" deputies now will determine the makeup of the conference secretariat, arrange for communications and security, and decide on policies for handling the 1,000 or so men and women of the international press corps about to descend on the city.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault are due here Friday for last-minute strategy discussions. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is expected on Saturday or Sunday.

First Major Meeting

Their gathering will be the first major four power meeting in Berlin since 1948 saw the opening of the cold war, its subsequent east-west split and the Berlin blockade.

Most observers were convinced the ministers' biggest argument would come over the question of how to organize a united Germany. The West insists on free elections first to establish a provisional parliament. The Communist East wants its own parliament to join with the West German government in setting up an election and the rules to govern it.

The Kremlin pledged itself yesterday to work at Berlin for the

Fire in Newburgh Endangers Section; Finally Controlled

Paper Products Concern Affected; All Apparatus Is Called Out; None Hurt

Newburgh, Jan. 18 (AP)—A spectacular fire, apparently brought under control, blazed this afternoon with a new fury that brought some 200 firemen to the scene.

A dozen fire companies from neighboring communities were aiding the Newburgh firefighters in battling the blaze at the Goldman and Son Paper Products Distributing Co. in Clinton Square. The fire started shortly after 10 a. m. and was reported under control at 11:30 a. m. Later the smoldering blaze erupted again.

No injuries have been reported and the cause of the blaze could not be immediately determined.

Section Imperilled

Newburgh, Jan. 18 (AP)—A spectacular smoky fire endangered part of the central part of Newburgh today but firemen brought the blaze under control within an hour and a half.

Scene of the fire was the Goldman and Son Paper Products Distributing Co., located in Clinton Square. All 11 pieces of Newburgh fire apparatus were rushed to the area, while stand-by aid was asked of the Middletown, New Windsor and Walden fire departments.

No injuries were reported and the cause of the blaze could not be immediately determined. The fire started shortly after 10 a. m. and was reported under control at 11:30 a. m.

Observers said black smoke from the blaze, towering some 150 feet, could be seen far up and down the Hudson river valley.

The Goldman firm distributes such paper products as towels, cups and napkins.

Tito's Top Aide Is Fired As Threat to Red Regime

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Communist party's central committee has expelled Vice President Milovan Djilas from its ranks after hearing President Marshal Tito denounce his top aide. Tito said Djilas attempted to "liquidate" the Red party in Yugoslavia and sought to adopt the capitalist system.

Immediately after the 100-member committee, meeting yesterday in extraordinary session, issued its unanimous decree firing him, Djilas resigned as chairman of the Yugoslav Parliament.

He also repented his actions, confessing that his attitude had been wrong. He denied that he opposed Tito and his policies and swore he still was a "true Marxist."

The committee gave Djilas a stern "final warning" to alter his views. This appeared to threaten his complete expulsion from the party.

It appeared likely also that Djilas would be ousted from his government post as one of Tito's four vice presidents. The committee hearing, however, apparently dealt only with party matters.

Djilas' purge from the party leadership climaxed the most disturbing politico-social controversy among Yugoslavia's rulers since the war.

The storm burst after the 41-year-old partisan fighter wrote a series of articles in the party newspaper Borba proposing modifications in the Red setup in the nation.

Though the party committee political views, the writings that brought down the Red wrath were his criticisms of the wives of other top Communists.

Djilas charged in a long article in "New Thought" that some of the ladies of the "inner circle"—itself a bad term to the Reds—had snubbed the actress wife of one official. Without mentioning names he made it clear he was talking about the recent bride of Chief of Staff Gen. Peko Dapcevic.

Frigid, Rigid City Finds Cold Spell All-Time Record

Hurley Resident Reports Minus 30 Reading —Belleayre Has Busy Time

Today was the coldest January 18 on record at the city engineer's office in Kingston and the coldest temperature recorded on any day in at least two years.

The recording thermometer atop the city hall in Kingston dipped to a low of 10 degrees below zero and hovered around that mark between 5 and 6 a. m.

The previous record for the same date was two degrees below zero recorded in 1938.

Another Record

Another all-time record low for a single date was set on Sunday with a reading of minus one degree, the lowest temperature recorded on a January 17 since the city engineer's office has been keeping records, it was reported by Harry T. Sweeney of that office.

Temperatures as low as minus 16 have been recorded on January 19, however. The year in which that low was reached was not immediately available.

The lowest temperature reached on any day in 1952-53 winter was five degrees above, according to official recordings at the city hall.

Other Readings

Readings well under the minus 10 were reported today from various sections of the city and county by unofficial sources.

Lowest reported to reach The Freeman was a reading of 30 degrees below zero near the Hurley Garage in Old Hurley, reported by Ernest Myer, principal of the Hurley School.

The New York City Department of Water Supply reported an overnight minimum of 16 degrees below zero at Brown Station on the Ashokan Reservoir.

At the Belleayre Mountain Ski Center maintained by the State Department of Conservation, a low of zero was reported at the base station and four or five degrees below zero at the top of the lift on Sunday. Although the ski center experienced a "very good" weekend, Arthur G. Draper, superintendent, said, the ski lift had to be closed down about 3:30 p. m. Sunday because of the cold.

A number of persons, particularly those from New York city and New Jersey who were not dressed properly, were treated for frostbite, Draper said.

2,000 Are Present

An estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons used the ski center facilities on Saturday, and 2,000 persons on Sunday. The previous weekend, Draper said, was better due to the fact that then Belleayre was the only nearby ski center having snow, whereas this past weekend all centers were in operation.

Other low temperature reports received this morning: On Fairview avenue in Kingston, minus 20; Kerhonkson, minus eight; Pine Hill, minus 10; West Hurley, minus 12; Kingston state police station on Route 9W, minus 12; Ellenville, minus six; Highland, minus 12.

With all the cold, one "sign of spring" was reported—but a shivering, suffering one at that. Jairol Carl Cline of the Sheriff's Department said he and neighbors on East Union street have been very much concerned over the plight of a robin that has been seen in a tree on the property of Mrs. John Hamilton at 84 East Union street.

Only 2 Weeks for Tabs

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—New York state motorists have only two more weeks in which to get "54 tabs for automobile license plates," Commissioner James R. Macduff of the Motor Vehicle Bureau reminded drivers yesterday that the tab must be shown after Feb. 1. He said renewals had dropped off sharply since the recent snowstorms and predicted long waiting lines unless the pace was stepped up.

Benson Discloses Intention; Would Aid Friendly Nations

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower soon will ask Congress for authority to use up to one billion dollars worth of surplus farm products to strengthen the economies of friendly countries.

This plan was disclosed today by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a statement before the Senate Agriculture Committee, outlining the administration's new farm program.

The proposed use of government surpluses—which Benson said today now exceed $5,500,000,000—would be in addition to $2,500,000,000 worth of surpluses which would be "insulated" from regular commercial supplies for special uses. Such uses would be for disaster relief, the school lunch program and for stockpiling for national emergencies.

The "insulating" idea was advanced by the President a week ago in a special message to Congress outlining his farm program.

Rawboned Cold Hits New York Area

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Man and his machines strove against rawboned cold that gripped the metropolitan area today.

The sharp edge of the frigid cold spell seemed to be wearing off as the day progressed.

Commuter trains limped into the city, late and groggy from their bout with the icy temperatures, which during the pre-dawn hours dropped to the lowest point in nearly two years—8.8 degrees.

Four Pennsylvania railroad commuter trains from New Jersey were delayed up to 41 minutes when a drawbridge jammed at Shark river, N. J., because of the cold.

Two other trains from South Amboy, N. J., were held up about a half hour by a frozen switch at Elmora, N. J.

A Trenton, N. J., local was 16 minutes late getting to Manhattan, reportedly because of the sluggish slowness of passengers in getting aboard.

Commuter Service Delayed

Commuter service from Westchester and northern suburban counties also encountered delays, and there was trouble on long-distance trains from the west as well.

The New York Central Railroad said its New York-bound Lake Shore Limited train was stranded in Buffalo for more than two hours with frozen engine boilers.

The Commodore Vanderbilt train, from Chicago, was stalled for more than an hour with frozen brakes.

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—Attorney Whitely North Seymour will be the whip in Gov. Dewey's campaign to drive the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. off the New York city waterfront.

Dewey yesterday named Seymour as the administration's spokesman before the National Labor Relations Board in the dispute over a bargaining election between the independent IILA and the new AFL International Longshoremen's Assn.

London, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Kremlin has fired Vilian Zodelava, first deputy premier of Georgia, in what appears to be a continuation of the purge in that troublesome, nationalist-minded Soviet republic.

A routine announcement yesterday on a broadcast from the Georgian capital of Tbilisi (Tiflis) said only that Zodelava had been "relieved of his duties" in the Black sea birthplace of Joseph Stalin and the executed Soviet police chief, Lavrenty P. Beria.

The broadcast said a leading member of the Georgian Communist party's Central Committee, M. I. Kuchava, had replaced Zodelava.

Lehman Purchases Former Leader Interest in City

Kingston Ulster Press Is to Be Independently Democratic, Owner Declares

The Kingston Ulster Press, published in the plant of the former Kingston Daily Leader and Ulster County News, has been sold to Orin Lehman, nephew of U. S. Senator and former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, it was announced today.

Now a tabloid weekly, it will go back to standard size, its new owner said. Lehman purchased the newspaper and equipment Jan. 15 from Dr. Douw S. Meyers. Its contents will be increased and it will continue to be independently Democratic, he said.

The plant at John and Crown streets, for many years, published the Kingston Daily Leader, a morning paper. It also published for several years the Ulster County News, a weekly. These were combined as the News-Leader, which within the past year, with another change of publishers, became the Kingston Ulster Press.

Stang Says Favorable Views Received; No Final Move

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today indicated he had received much comment in favor of the arterial route plan for Kingston recently presented to him by state officials, but he also said the city would make no final moves until it is determined that sentiment is favorable in every affected area.

Formal acceptance of the plan, aimed at facilitating movement of east and west and north and south bound traffic in and around the city, will not obligate the city to fulfillment at this time, the mayor said.

Local approval of each construction project must be obtained before it can be advanced to the construction stage, the state report on the plan said, but upon first endorsement of the plan by local officials, portions of existing streets or thoroughfares may then be added to the official state highway system where that action is required.

State officials said when the plan was presented here Friday that it is possible, if the plan is approved locally in time, to present it for state action at the present session of the legislature in Albany. It was also indicated today that the plan may be presented to the Common Council for initial action at its regular February session.

The mayor said, he personally, would like to make sure that the plan would be as acceptable downtown as uptown and other areas of the city before any final action was taken.

It is possible, state officials said, for the city to accept any phase of the plan separately because each project must be approved locally and acted upon separately by the state. The city may, if it sees fit, eliminate any part of the plan, and accept such parts as it may deem most immediately beneficial.

All construction costs are met by equal shares of federal aid and state funds. The state also pays half the cost of rights-of-way and the city pays the other half. The state estimates a total right-of-way cost at $522,000.

George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, are on record as being in favor of the plan and he thought it possible that the Ulster County Building Trades Council, scheduled to meet today, would take similar action.

Yerry's own opinion of the project was to the effect that if the city does not make the most of the state plan at this time, it may sometime later be called upon to do the whole job.

25 Millions Are Sought As Starter

Eisenhower Seeks Five Year Expansion of Program for Nation's Disabled

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today that the government bolster private insurance plans as a step toward bettering the health of all Americans.

In a special message to Congress, Eisenhower asked for 25 million dollars to start a system of government re-insurance of private plans, to help take care of extraordinary expenses beyond those now covered.

The President also proposed a five-year plan for expansion of the program for rehabilitation of the disabled. Under it a total of 660,000 disabled persons would be returned "to places of full responsibility as actively working citizens."

Rejects Socialized Medicine

Eisenhower's plan "rejecting the socialization of medicine," also called for (a) continuation of present public health service programs, (b) a new simplified formula for grants-in-aid to the states for health purposes, and (c) a stepped up program of construction of medical care facilities.

The President told Congress the total private medical bill of the nation now exceeds nine billion dollars a year—an average of nearly $200 a family—and still is rising.

He said the emphasis in dealing with the program must remain essentially in private care, but that the government can and must help.

"Freedom, consent, and individual responsibility are fundamental to our system," he said. "In the field of medicine, health care, health insurance, this means that the traditional relationship of the physician and his patient, and the right of the individual to elect freely the manner of his care in illness, must be preserved."

'Can Commit Ourselves'

"In adhering to this principle, and rejecting the socialization of medicine, we can still confidently commit ourselves to certain national health goals."

"One such goal is that the means for achieving good health should be accessible to all. A person's location, occupation, age, race, creed or financial status

Efforts to reopen preliminary talks for a peace conference got nowhere.

American and North Korean liaison secretaries deadlocked for the third time—apparently on the question of striking Red charges of perfidy from the record. They agreed to meet again Wednesday.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, UN Assembly president, said "merely releasing 22,000 unrepatriated prisoners would not end the Korean deadlock."

She said in a speech to Indian leaders that the problem of Korea is a desperate one which must be reviewed by the General Assembly "in the context of new developments."

Mrs. Pandit has called for the 60-nation assembly to reconvene Feb. 9 on the Korean question.

Thimayya Monday sent what he called a "clarifying statement" to Gen. John E. Hull, UN Far East commander.

He said the allies apparently misunderstood his decision to return unrepatriated prisoners now in Indian custody to their captors starting Wednesday.

Each Told to Be Ready

Thimayya, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC), told each side last week to be ready to take back the prisoners it captured. They include 14,300 Chinese and 7,700 Korean POW's captured by the allies and 327 Koreans, 21 Americans and 1 Briton captured by the Communists. All have refused to go home.

Republicans Hold Parley To Outline Senate Policy

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—Republican leaders today began reaching for the votes they will need to hammer the disputed points in Gov. Dewey's election-year program through the Legislature.

At a summons from Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, GOP senators returned to the Capitol in advance of tonight's session for their first policy conference of the year.

Sen. Mahoney indicated last night that the conference would be devoted to sounding out reactions to the governor's program. He said it was too early to tell whether any revolts were brewing.

Most of Dewey's proposals are expected to sail through both Houses with the backing of the heavy Republican majorities. But strong sentiment is reported against his demands for compulsory automobile liability insurance, a uniform jury system, and optional permanent personal registration.

A number of persons, particularly those from New York city and New Jersey who were not dressed properly, were treated for frostbite, Draper said.

2,000 Are Present

An estimated 1,500 to 2,000 persons used the ski center facilities on Saturday, and 2,000 persons on Sunday. The previous weekend, Draper said, was better due to the fact that then Belleayre was the only nearby ski center having snow, whereas this past weekend all centers were in operation.

Other low temperature reports received this morning: On Fairview avenue in Kingston, minus 20; Kerhonkson, minus eight; Pine Hill, minus 10; West Hurley, minus 12; Kingston state police station on Route 9W, minus 12; Ellenville, minus six; Highland, minus 12.

With all the cold, one "sign of spring" was reported—but a shivering, suffering one at that. Jailer Carl Cline of the Sheriff's Department said he and neighbors on East Union street have been very much concerned over the plight of a robin that has been seen in a tree on the property of Mrs. John Hamilton at 84 East Union street.

Only 2 Weeks for Tabs

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—New York state motorists have only two more weeks in which to get '54 tabs for automobile license plates. Commissioner James R. Macduff of the Motor Vehicle Bureau reminded drivers yesterday that the tab must be shown after Feb. 1. He said renewals had dropped off sharply since the recent snowstorms and predicted long waiting lines unless the pace was stepped up.

Benson Discloses Intention; Would Aid Friendly Nations

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—President Eisenhower soon will ask Congress for authority to use up to one billion dollars worth of surplus farm products to strengthen the economies of friendly countries.

This plan was disclosed today by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a statement before the Senate Agriculture Committee, outlining the administration's new farm program.

The proposed use of government surpluses—which Benson said today now exceed $5,500,000,000—would be in addition to $2,500,000,000 worth of surpluses which would be "insulated" from regular commercial supplies for special uses. Such uses would be for disaster relief, the school lunch program and for stockpiling for national emergencies.

The "insulating" idea was advanced by the President a week ago in a special message to Congress outlining his farm program.

Authorization Given

Benson told the Senate committee that the President has authorized him to announce the

Rauboned Cold Hits New York Area

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Man and his machines strove against rauboned cold that gripped the metropolitan area today.

The sharp edge of the frigid cold spell seemed to be wearing off as the day progressed.

Commuter trains limped into the city, late and groggy from their bout with the icy temperatures, which during the pre-dawn hours dropped to the lowest point in nearly two years—8.8 degrees.

Four Pennsylvania railroad commuter trains from New Jersey were delayed up to 45 minutes when a drawbridge jammed at Shark river, N. J., because of the cold.

Two other trains from South Amboy, N. J., were held up about a half hour by a frozen switch at Elmora, N. J.

A Trenton, N. J., local was 16 minutes late getting to Manhattan, reportedly because the sluggish slowness of passengers in getting aboard.

Commuter Service Delayed

Commuter service from Westchester and northern suburban counties also encountered delays, and there was trouble on long-distance trains from the west as well.

The New York Central Railroad said it had New York-bound Lake Shore Limited train stranded in Buffalo for more than two hours with frozen engine boilers.

The Commodore Vanderbilt train, from Chicago, was stalled for more than an hour with frozen brakes.

Seymour Will Address NLRB on Docks Dispute

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—Attorney Whitney North Seymour will be the whip in Gov. Dewey's campaign to drive the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. off the New York city waterfront.

Dewey yesterday named Seymour as the administration's spokesman before the National Labor Relations Board in the dispute over a bargaining election between the independent IILA and the new AFL International Longshoremen's Assn.

Seymour will press Dewey's charges that there was "coercion and intimidation" in the NLRB election to determine which union would represent approximately 24,000 pier workers. The outcome has not been decided.

Kremlin Bounces Georgian Deputy

London, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Kremlin has fired Viliam Zodelava, first deputy premier of Georgia, in what appears to be a continuation of the purge in that troublesome, nationalist-minded Soviet republic.

A routine announcement yesterday on a broadcast from the Georgian capital of Tbilisi (Tiflis) said only that Zodelava had been "relieved of his duties" in the Black sea birthplace of Joseph Stalin and the executed Soviet police chief, Lavrenty P. Beria.

The broadcast said a leading member of the Georgian Communist party's Central Committee, M. I. Kuchava, had replaced Zodelava.

Lehman Purchases Former Leader Interest in City

Kingston Ulster Press Is to Be Independently Democratic, Owner Declares

The Kingston Ulster Press, published in the plant of the former Kingston Daily Leader and Ulster County News, has been sold to Orin Lehman, nephew of U. S. Senator and former Governor Herbert H. Lehman, it was announced today.

Now a tabloid weekly, it will go back to standard size, its new owner said. Lehman purchased the newspaper and equipment Jan. 15 from Dr. Douw S. Meyers. Its contents will be increased and it will continue to be independently Democratic, he said.

The plant at John and Crown streets, for many years, published the Kingston Daily Leader, a morning paper. It also published for several years the Ulster County News, a weekly. These were combined as the News-Leader, which within the past year, with another change of publishers, became the Kingston Ulster Press.

Has Greene County Paper

Lehman is chairman of the board of the Greene County Printing Corp., publishers of the Greene County Examiner-Recorder of Catskill and the Cossack Union-News. He will organize a new corporation for the business which included commercial printing departments.

Stang Says Favorable Views Received; No Final Move

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today indicated he had received much comment in favor of the arterial route plan for Kingston recently presented to him by state officials, but he also said the city would make no final moves until it is determined that sentiment is favorable in every affected area.

Formal acceptance of the plan, aimed at facilitating movement of east and west and north and south bound traffic in and around the city, will not obligate the city to fulfillment at this time, the mayor said.

Local approval of each construction project must be obtained before it can be advanced to the construction stage, the state report on the plan said, but upon first endorsement of the plan by local officials, portions of existing streets or thoroughfares may then be added to the official state highway system where that action is required.

State officials said when the plan was presented here Friday that it is possible, if the plan is approved locally in unity, to present it for state action at the present session of the legislature in Albany. It was also indicated today that the plan may be presented to the Common Council for initial action at its regular February session.

The mayor said, he personally, would like to make sure that the plan would be as acceptable downtown as uptown and other areas of the city before any final action was taken.

It is possible, state officials said, for the city to accept any phase of the plan separately because each project must be approved locally and acted upon separately by the state. The city may, if it sees fit, eliminate any part of the plan, and accept such parts as it may deem most immediately beneficial.

All construction costs are met by equal shares of federal aid and state funds. The state also pays half the cost of rights-of-way and the city pays the other half. The state estimates a total right-of-way cost at $522,000.

George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, are on record as being in favor of the plan and he thought it possible that the Ulster County Building Trades Council, scheduled to meet today, would take similar action.

Yerry's own opinion of the project was to the effect that if the city does not make the most of the state plan at this time, it may sometime later be called upon to do the whole job.

Edward J. Scherer Dies; Well-Known As Diamond Star

Edward J. Scherer, 65, of 37 Adams street, one of Kingston's prominent baseball players until the late 1930's, died Sunday at Benedictine Hospital following a lengthy illness.

The baseball influence which marked Scherer as one of the area's top figures, also reflected his family's attitude towards the great national pastime. His son, Wendell E. Scherer, also was well-known in the baseball circles as a first baseman.

Started at 16

Scherer, a veteran City Baseball League performer, started his career as a semi-professional player with a Wilbur baseball team at the age of 16 and was active in the game until the late 30's. During the height of his career the colorful pitcher also played with the Zuzu's and the Red Monograms as well as appearing with several Catskill Mountain area teams which at that time were starring many college ball players.

Scherer, who was born in May Park the son of the late Wendell and Barbara Eckel Scherer, also was connected with the Old Colonians in a front office capacity where he served as secretary-treasurer of the fabulous club.

Active in Minstrels

In later life, Scherer was active in minstrel shows and for a year was associated with the James M. Murphy Funeral Home. Scherer is survived by his wife, Anna Jordan Scherer; three sons, Wendell E., Edwin G. and Richard P. Scherer; a daughter, Mrs. Marie Menzies; four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Rein, Mrs. John Pardee, Mrs. George Collier and Mrs. Edward Perry. Ten grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and 9:30 a. m. from St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Teen-Agers Held After Wild Ride

Rhinebeck, Jan. 18 (P)—Six 15-year-olds from the Bronx—four boys and two girls—were called into juvenile court today after a 135-mile rampage.

The six, who were held by state police here yesterday, were accused of slugging a gasoline station attendant, stealing three cars and causing a highway accident. Police gave this account of the teen-agers' activities: They stole a large sedan in the Bronx Saturday afternoon and drove 75 miles to Clinton Corners, Dutchess county, where the car broke down. Slugging a gasoline station attendant there over the head with a soda bottle, they drove off in his car. They ditched it after 15 miles and broke into a roadside shack.

Surrender Meekly

The six hiked to Pine Plains yesterday morning and hired a taxicab to take them eight miles farther to Red Hook, where they stole another car. State police got on the trail of the stolen car near Rip Van Winkle Bridge, where it was traveling about 80 miles an hour. The teen-agers stopped the car after a minor collision with another vehicle 10 miles farther north at West Cossackie. The six tried to escape on foot, but surrendered meekly.

Greenfield Park Home Destroyed By Fire Sunday

The home of Daniel Memet at Greenfield Park was destroyed by a fire which broke out about 11:30 a. m. Sunday, state police of the Ellenville station reported.

No estimate of the amount of loss was made, but it was learned that the two-story frame building was insured for about $15,000. Troopers said it was a total loss. Curtains Caught Fire Memet told troopers the fire apparently started as his father, George Memet, was singing pin feathers from a chicken, using a paper torch. The flames caught on curtains and traveled upward through the ceiling and into the second floor, troopers said. The Ellenville Fire Department was summoned, but was unable to save the structure because of the rapid spread of the fire.

Fire Damages Car; Water Pipe Breaks

A fire apparently caused by the igniting of anti-freeze in the sedan of Louis Gunzelman, 18 Elmendorf street, damaged the vehicle and part of the garage in which it was kept yesterday.

Firemen were called at 6:52 p. m., and reported the car badly damaged. A call at 7:57 a. m., today was for a broken water pipe at 93 S. Broadway street, the home of Harold Pekarsky. The break was in a line leading into a washing machine.

Another call at 6:59 p. m., Saturday was for a fire in the rear seat cushion of the car of Ralph Gardner, Jr., 38 Murphy street. A cigarette was listed as the probable cause.

Jasper McLevy, a Socialist, is serving his 11th consecutive term as mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.

Damage Action Is Settled In 'Two Wives' Litigation

Settlement of a damage action brought by the legal widow of a truck driver whose death in 1952 disclosed his alleged "double life" was approved today in Ulster County Surrogate's Court.

At the same time, there were reports that the dead truck driver's "other wife" is initiating a move to have her children declared legitimate—a move that, it is said, will make legal precedent if successful.

Surrogate John B. Sterley today approved settlement for $47,000 of a damage suit brought by Anna Houck Wood of Saugerties, widow of Eugene H. Wood, against Bourjis, Inc., and Albert Masseaux of New York. The action was commenced by Mrs. Wood as administratrix of the estate of her husband, as the result of a truck accident at Paramus, N. J., on Sept. 30, 1952, in which Wood lost his life.

The action commenced on Oct. 30, 1952, and on December 22, 1953, the defendants offered Mrs. Goldstein of Albany, Mrs. Wood's attorney, the sum of $47,000, intended to be full settlement and discharge of the full claim.

Proved Acceptable

The settlement apparently proved acceptable to Mrs. Wood and her attorney, but under the law a settlement in such cases is subject to approval of the surrogate. Thus, an application was made, returned today, before Surrogate Sterley, to show cause why a settlement in the proposed action should not be approved by that court.

Following a hearing this morning, Surrogate Sterley directed that a settlement of the action be made for $47,000.

Of the total sum, the surrogate directed that $13,000 be paid the Chicorelli Funeral Home in Albany in payment of funeral and burial expenses, and the sum of $15,666 be allowed Attorney Goldstein for his services.

Of the remaining amount, $10,

010 will go to Anna Houck Wood as widow, and $3,006 to each of her four children.

Is Final Settlement

This approval constitutes final settlement in the matter insofar as the Ulster County Surrogate's Court is concerned.

After Wood's death, Jean Patricelli Wood of Schaghticoke, had also claimed to be widow of Eugene H. Wood. She has three children she claimed are Wood's.

Declared Illegal

In a previous action in surrogate's court, Jean's marriage to Wood was declared by Surrogate Sterley to have been "illegal and unlawful." Anna was declared the only legal widow and was granted limited letters as administratrix. This decision was handed down by Surrogate Sterley on Feb. 16, 1953.

Today, the Albany Times Union reported that "reliable sources" told that newspaper that the total settlement amounts to $62,000. In addition to the $47,000 which Anna Wood and her four children will receive, the newspaper said, the sum of $15,000 "it is understood" will go into a fund to be used for clothing, medical care and other expenses essential to the upbringing of the three children of Jean Wood.

Entirely apart from the suit for damages, the Times Union said an action is pending which seeks to have the three children of the bigamous marriage declared to be legitimate, although no legal marriage had ever existed and the children, technically, were born out of wedlock.

This action was filed for the children by a guardian "ad litem" under Section 1133, subsection 6, of the Civil Practices Act. The section cited normally applies to children born of marriages later annulled and its attempted application to the children of a union which never legally existed has been termed by lawyers as a possible precedent-making action.

Man Found Dead; Verdict Suicide

Edward Joseph DeVeau, 48, of 90 DeWitt street, was found dead in his sedan with a bullet wound in his head at about 10:30 a. m. today, not far from his home.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle issued a verdict of suicide.

A police report at 10:32 a. m., said Jeanette Wells, a stepdaughter, found DeVeau slumped over the wheel of the car in a vacant lot. Beside him, police said, was a .32 calibre revolver from which two shots had been fired. Officers Gerald Avery and John Crespinio investigated.

Coroner McCordle indicated that DeVeau had been despondent over ill health. He had suffered a heart condition, he said. He had been employed by J. A. Cassidy & Son, Inc., makers of refrigerators, 1 Stephan street.

The lot in which he had parked the car was near the West Shore railroad bridge over the Rondout creek in Wilbur.

Surviving are his widow, Kathryn, and seven step-children: Herbert, George, Donald, Walter and Jeanette Wells, Mrs. Lona Pinko and Mrs. Margaret Lower. Funeral arrangements by the Francis J. McCordle Funeral Home will be announced.

Two Are Dismissed

Complainants failed to appear before City Judge Raymond P. Mino this morning against two men arrested over the weekend on third degree assault charges and they were dismissed. Alfred Secreto, 48, of 3 Second avenue, was arrested by his wife, Elizabeth at 12:59 p. m., Saturday and Robert Marshall, 27, of 54 Ann street, was arrested by his wife, Joan, at 8 a. m., Sunday.

Edward J. Scherer Dies; Well-Known As Diamond Star

Edward J. Scherer, 65, of 37 Adams street, one of Kingston's prominent baseball players until the late 1930's, died Sunday at Benedictine Hospital following a lengthy illness.

The baseball influence which marked Scherer as one of the area's top figures, also reflected his family's attitude towards the great national pastime. His son, Wendell E. Scherer, also was well-known in the baseball circles as a first baseman.

Started at 16
Scherer, a veteran City Baseball League performer, started his career as a semi-professional player with a Wilbur baseball team at the age of 16 and was active in the game until the late 30's.

During the height of his career the colorful pitcher also played with the Zuzis and the Red Monograms as well as appearing with several Catskill Mountain area teams which at that time were starring many college ball players.

Scherer, who was born in May Park the son of the late Wendell and Barbara Eckel Scherer, also was connected with the Old Colonials in a front office capacity where he served as secretary-treasurer of the fabulous club.

Active in Minstrels
In later life, Scherer was active in minstrel shows and for a year was associated with the James M. Murphy Funeral Home. Scherer is survived by his wife, Anna Jordan Scherer; three sons, Wendell E., Edwin G. and Richard P. Scherer; a daughter, Mrs. Marie Menzies; four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Rein, Mrs. John Pardee, Mrs. George Collier and Mrs. Edward Perry. Ten grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and 9:30 a. m. from St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Teen-Agers Held After Wild Ride

Rhinebeck, Jan. 18 (P)—Six 15-year-olds from the Bronx—four boys and two girls—were called into juvenile court today after a 135-mile rampage.

The six, who were held by state police here yesterday, were accused of slugging a gasoline station attendant, stealing three cars and causing a highway accident.

Police gave this account of the teen-agers' activities: They stole a large sedan in the Bronx Saturday afternoon and drove 75 miles to Clinton County, where the car broke down. Slugging a gasoline station attendant there over the head with a soda bottle, they drove off in his car. They ditched it after 15 miles and broke into a roadside shack.

Surrender Meekly
The six hiked to Pine Plains yesterday morning and hired a taxicab to take them eight miles farther to Red Hook, where they stole another car. State police got on the trail of the stolen car near Rip Van Winkle Bridge, where it was traveling about 80 miles an hour. The teen-agers stopped the car after a minor collision with another vehicle 10 miles farther north at West Cocksackie. The six first attempted to escape on foot, but surrendered meekly.

Greenfield Park Home Destroyed By Fire Sunday

The home of Daniel Memet at Greenfield Park was destroyed by a fire which broke out about 11:30 a. m. Sunday, state police of the Ellenville station reported.

No estimate of the amount of loss was made, but it was learned that the two-story frame building was insured for about $15,000. Troopers said it was a total loss.

Curtains Caught Fire
Memet told troopers the fire apparently started as his father, George Memet, was singing pin feathers from a chicken, using a paper torch. The flames caught on curtains and traveled upward through the ceiling and into the second floor, troopers said.

The Ellenville Fire Department was summoned, but was unable to save the structure because of the rapid spread of the fire.

Fire Damages Car; Water Pipe Breaks
A fire apparently caused by the igniting of anti-freeze in the sedan of Louis Gunzelman, 18 Elmendorf street, damaged the vehicle and part of the garage in which it was kept yesterday. Firemen were called at 6:52 p. m. and reported the car badly damaged. A call at 7:57 a. m., today was for a broken water pipe at 93 Andrew street, the home of Harold Pekarsky. The break was in a line leading into a washing machine. Another call at 6:59 p. m., Saturday was for a fire in the rear seat cushion of the car of Ralph Gardner, Jr., 38 Murphy street. A cigarette was listed as the probable cause. Jasper McLevy, a Socialist, is serving his 11th consecutive term as mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.

Damage Action Is Settled In 'Two Wives' Litigation

Settlement of a damage action brought by the legal widow of a truck driver whose death in 1952 disclosed his alleged "double life" was approved today in Ulster County Surrogate's Court. At the same time, there were reports that the dead truck driver's "other wife" is initiating a move to have her children declared legitimate—a move that, it is said, will make legal precedent if successful.

Is Final Settlement
This approval constitutes final settlement in the matter insofar as the Ulster County Surrogate's Court is concerned. After Wood's death, Jean Patrielli Wood of Schaghticoke, had also claimed to be widow of Eugene H. Wood. She has three children she claimed are Wood's. In a previous action in surrogate's court, Jean's marriage to Wood was declared by Surrogate Sterley to have been "illegal and unlawful." Anna was declared the only legal widow and was granted limited letters of administration. This decision was handed down by Surrogate Sterley on Feb. 16, 1953.

Declared Illegal
Today, the Albany Times Union reported that "reliable sources" told that newspaper that the total settlement amounts to $62,000. In addition to the $47,000 which Anna Wood and her four children will receive, the newspaper said, the sum of $15,000 "it is understood" will go into a fund to be used for clothing, medical care and other expenses essential to the upbringing of the three children of Jean Wood.

Proved Acceptable
The settlement apparently proved acceptable to Mrs. Wood and her attorney, but under the law a settlement in such cases is subject to approval of the surrogate. Thus, an application was made, returnable today, before Surrogate Sterley, to show cause why a settlement in the proposed action should not be approved by that court.

Following a hearing this morning, Surrogate Sterley directed that a settlement of the action be made for $47,000. Of the total sum, the surrogate directed that $1,300 be paid the Chicorelli Funeral Home in Albany in payment of funeral and burial expenses, and the sum of $15,666 be allowed Attorney Goldstein for his services.

Of the remaining amount, $10,000 will go to Anna Houck Wood as widow, and $5,000 to each of her four children.

Man Found Dead; Verdict Suicide
Edward Joseph DeVeau, 48, of 90 DeWitt street, was found dead in his sedan with a bullet wound in his head at about 10:30 a. m., today, not far from his home.

Coroner Francis J. McCordle issued a verdict of suicide. A police report at 10:32 a. m., said Jeanette Wells, a stepdaughter, found DeVeau slumped over the wheel of the car in a vacant lot. Beside him, police said, was a .32 calibre revolver from which two shots had been fired. Officers Gerald Avery and John Crespin investigated.

Coroner McCordle indicated that DeVeau had been despondent over ill health. He had suffered a heart condition, he said. He had been employed by J. A. Cassidy & Son, Inc., makers of refrigerators, 1 Stephen street.

The lot in which he had parked the car was near the West Shore railroad bridge over the Rondout creek in Wilbur.

Surviving are his widow, Kathryn, and seven step-children: Herbert, George, Donald, Walter and Jeanette Wells, Mrs. Lorna Pinko and Mrs. Margaret Lower. Funeral arrangements by the Francis J. McCordle Funeral Home will be announced.

Two Are Dismissed
Complainants failed to appear before City Judge Raymond J. Mino this morning against two men arrested over the weekend on third degree assault charges and they were dismissed. Alfred Scretto, 48, of 3 Second avenue, was arrested by his wife, Elizabeth at 12:59 p. m., Saturday and Robert Marshall, 27, of 54 Ann street, was arrested by his wife, Joan, at 8 a. m., Sunday.

Are Attending Meeting

Ryance, director appointed by the General Synod, are attending the meeting of the board of directors of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary which is being held at Asbury Park, N. ## Howard Hughes' Story

(He's eccentric. He's controversial. He shuns the limelight, yet keeps making news. He's Howard Hughes, who has enough money to do what he wants and does it—with the Hughes fleet, in five stories, of which this is the first, an AF writer goes behind the scenes to tell you what Hughes is really like.)

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood, Jan. 18 (AP)—Hollywood, Hollywood and Las Vegas are three fabulous places. And the most fabulous citizen of each may well be Howard Hughes.

All unwillingly, if you listen to the friends who paint him as the shy, retiring type. Yet he's always doing things that get him in the papers.

What kind of man is this phantom, who sometimes acts like a throwback to the rugged individualists of another century? Is he genius? Or an overgrown boy who toys with movie studios, and oil wells, and airplanes? Is he shrewd, ruthless, gentle all at once? Does he pinch pennies and toss away millions? Is he Hollywood's greatest off-screen lover? Is he, or isn't he, a super eccentric in the Hollywood world where normal behavior is eccentric?

Let's try to smash through that small army of high paid public relations men and executives who run interference for him.

No executive in the country, including the President, is harder to get to than Hughes via normal channels. It's amazing how many in Hollywood, including some of his high priced help, never have seen the man.

He's Easy Going

Yet once you get to talk with him, he's easy going, charming and courteous. And not too hard to find if you keep late hours.

Hughes, first of all, is a mechanical genius. It's not difficult to understand why. He is the son of a man who did almost as much as Henry Ford to roll America into the motor age.

Hughes' father invented the famous rock bit oil well drill with 166 cutting edges that chews through flint as easily as mud. With it, drillers all over the world first were able to strike the 16,000 feet depths that tapped unknown petroleum riches.

Howard was born in Houston but spent much of his childhood in Dallas. Serious, shy even then, his favorite toys were tools. Before he entered high school, he had invented a practical muffler for motorcycles, constructed his own hot rod of parts from automobile graveyards and monkeyed around with a steam automobile.

Business at $650,000

He was 19 when his father died in 1923. Hughes says that the government appraised the business at $650,000.

By 1949, when 75 per cent of the world's oil wells were drilled with Hughes equipment, it was worth better than 140 million. That's the price, according to the New York Times, that a Wall Street syndicate offered Hughes then. He didn't sell, for it's the fountain of income, estimated at better than 3 million yearly that juices Hughes' other enterprises—such as Trans World Airline, a Texas brewery, RKO Pictures, Hughes Aircraft and others.

Hughes was educated at fashionable prep schools in Boston and Ojai, Calif., studied at California Institute of Technology, and Rice Institute.

Reticent as Flier

Pilots and mechanics around early California airfields recall Hughes as a reticent, boyish flier who never laughed much. In the air, he was a Hell-on-wheels daredevil.

His interest in flying—and his millions—led to the filming in 1928 of "Hell's Angels," with air sequences which probably are the finest the screen has seen.

Hughes' passion for speed led to the founding of Hughes Aircraft in 1931, so he could design and fly his own ships. Longtime friends estimate he has made 30,000 takeoffs and landings in every conceivable type of craft. His design included the first twin boom fighter, later known as the deadly Lockheed Lightning, and the big Constellation.

He first won international air prominence in 1935 when, with no advance fanfare, he wrested the ground speed record from France, going 352 MPH.

Two years later he took the same ship across country for a transcontinental record of 7 hours and 28 minutes. It stood until late in World War 2.

Offered Money by Reds

The Russian government offered him big money for the plane but Hughes refused. A friend explains: "Howard was and still is Hollywood's most violent anti-communist."

Hughes' greatest air feat was the 1938 round-the-world flight. He and his crew made the trip in 91 hours, bettering by half the record of the late Wiley Post. It was a typical Hughes operation, without fanfare.

His scientific devotion almost killed him in 1946 on the first flight of his XF11, a highly experimental plane reputed at that time to be the fastest long range craft built. He knew for 25 seconds ahead of time that the ship was going to crash but with a designer's curiosity he loosened his safety belt, inspected the plane and convinced himself that the right propeller was causing the trouble. Then he tried to pancake it on a golf course.

Instead, he hit three homes and a garage.

His chest and left lung crushed, skull fractured, nine ribs broken, burned, bruised, shocked, his doctor announced he had little chance to live.

Business as Usual

The next day he summoned two aides to the hospital and wanted to conduct business as usual. A horrified doctor stationed a deputy sheriff outside his door with orders to admit no one but doctors and nurses.

Hovering between life and death, Hughes asked the doctor to deliver a message to the military that the propeller caused the crash.

"Tell them to study it," Hughes gasped. "I don't want this to happen to anyone else."

Soon he improved enough to find fault with his hospital bed and design a new one, ordering his engineers to build it immediately.

"We were amazed," said one hospital official. "If he had flown that bed out of the hospital, I wouldn't have been surprised."

Among his get-well messages was one from President Truman.

Enclosed was the Congressional Medal awarded Hughes five years earlier for his round-the-world flight. He never had bothered to pick it up.

Cardinal Opens Prayer

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman presided yesterday at a solemn high Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral initiating an eight-day period of prayer for a reunion of Christendom.

The chair of this unity octave—the name of the period—was opened by the Very Rev. Eugene Figueras, general of the sponsoring Graymoor Friars of Harrison. The problem of Christian unity is one of the most agonizing problems of our time," said the Very Rev. Angelus Francis Delahunt, S. A., superior general of the Friars in his sermon. "The disunity of Christians—of those who profess to be the followers of Christ, is a scandal that men of good will should exert every effort to wipe out."

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Don't under-estimate American intelligence. A recent survey indicates that a majority of the people are happy about the way in which the new administration has pared costs of government. But they believe it could go further.

Mr. Hutton

And it is interesting to note that this sample of the public mind runs contrary to what the left-wing bureaucrats and job-padders would like to have you believe it is.

These bureaucrats are horrified because they see Economy slicing away Government "services" for example. But I submit that a lot of these "services" are nothing more than the government's attempts to socialize the nation. A lot of these "services" ought to be performed by private industry or delegated back to the states where they belong. Then you would see less need for prohibitive taxation and worse yet, double taxation, by both federal government and state.

$92,600 More U. S. Bonds Are Sold in Ulster Over 1952

Sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Ulster county in 1953 amounted to $877,200, an increase of $92,600 over 1952 sales, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster county Savings Bond Committee, reported today. The Series H Bond is a new current income Bond paying the same interest as the E Bond.

Edelmuth attributed the increase in Bond sales to wide popular response to higher interest and other improved terms, and to active support by banks, business and industry.

New York state sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds amounted to $469,012,000 in 1953. This is an increase of $44,851,000 over E and H sales for 1952.

The continuing and increasing investment in U. S. Savings Bonds by Ulster county residents is a dramatic example of Americans working together for their own and their country's future security," Edelmuth declared. "At the same time, our business and industrial firms maintaining the payroll savings plan for regular Bond purchases and our banks which sell and issue Bonds recognize that these shares in America help preserve our national economic strength."

Dies in Kentucky

Covington, Ky., Jan. 18 (AP)—Col. Clara Van Der Schouw, 77, retired women's social secretary for Salvation Army hospitals, died Saturday night in Booth Hospital here. She retired in 1939 and had made her home at Wewahatchka, Fla. Salvation Army services will be held tonight. Burial will take place later in the week at Kensico Cemetery, Westchester county, N. Y. As a social secretary, she was responsible for the operation of Salvation Army hospitals in 11 eastern states.

The Robot Waiter

By FRANK TRIPP

An inventor has created a gadget that imperils the function of the waiter. Such human service as would be needed could be performed by a bus boy. The diner deals directly with the kitchen.

This robot number is a push-button device that takes the place of the menu. On it, with each item opposite a push button, is the day's bill of fare; everything from soup to nuts at one's finger tips.

That is, everything to eat; but as yet there are no hose connections, which likely is an oversight due for early correction if the "silent butler" is to become popular. That hour of illuminating conversation between your arrival and time to eat is not provided for.

YOU CAN PUSH buttons and your sizzling steak and hash browns immediately go on the fire, but you're not ready for food yet and the only waiter in sight is a chrome panel with little black buttons.

If the sizzler had been the immediate objective you'd have stayed at the office another hour and earned your salary. This is your first encounter with the key board, so what do you do?

Since there's nobody in sight but you and the other suckers, and no button takes care of what you came early for, you still have to walk over to the high stools: so you do. They'll have to correct this, you think.

YOU ALSO THINK that food and libation are not the only things that draw people together in public dining places worth a second visit. There's something else.

Now that there are none around, you're impressed that glad-to-see-you faces are a factor; as important a lure as the cuisine and vintage. You miss those good-natured people and the welcome that they radiated. Right away quick, you don't like the robot.

Half of the pleasure of a good meal is being served by a favorite waiter, who knows your little idiosyncrasies and caters to them.

More than half of the fun of the cafe cocktail hour is the jolly banter that comes across the mahogany from a wise old-timer—or a more youthful aspirant to customer affection. And they're getting scarce.

THEN, on the other hand, you ponder that soup-servers drive away more trade than cold soup or abbreviated toddy. You know places that swarm with itchy-palmed arrogant whose only resemblance to a waiter is a numbered badge and a union card.

So maybe there's a future for the robot waiter after all. Just think: when your sweetie sneers at humble brew you could call a taxi, send her home and spend an exciting evening at the metered end of a brass spigot.

Howard Hughes' Story

(He's eccentric. He's controversial. He shuns the limelight, yet keeps making news. He's Howard Hughes, who has enough money to do what he wants and does it—with the Hughes flair. In five stories, of which this is the first, an AP writer goes behind the scenes to tell you what Hughes is really like.)

By JAMES BACON

Hollywood, Jan. 18 (AP)—Houston, Hollywood and Las Vegas are three fabulous places. And the most fabulous citizen of each may well be Howard Hughes.

All unwillingly, if you listen to the friends who paint him as the shy, retiring type. Yet he's always doing things that get him in the papers.

What kind of man is this phantom, who sometimes acts like a throwback to the rugged individualists of another century?

Is he genius? Or an overgrown boy who toys with movie studios, and oil wells, and airplanes? Is he shrewd, ruthless, gentle all at once? Does he pinch pennies and toss away millions? Is he Hollywood's greatest off-screen lover? Is he, or isn't he, a super eccentric in the Hollywood world where normal behavior is eccentric?

Let's try to smash through that small army of high paid public relations men and executives who run interference for him.

No executive in the country, including the President, is harder to get to than Hughes via normal channels. It's amazing how many in Hollywood, including some of his high priced help, never have seen the man.

He's Easy Going

Yet once you get to talk with him, he's easy going, charming and courteous. And not too hard to find if you keep late hours.

Hughes, first of all, is a mechanical genius. It's not difficult to understand why. He is the son of a man who did almost as much as Henry Ford to roll America into the motor age.

Hughes' father invented the famous rock bit oil well drill with 166 cutting edges that chews through flint as easily as mud. With it, drillers all over the world first were able to strike the 16,000 feet depths that tapped unknown petroleum riches.

Howard was born in Houston but spent much of his childhood in Dallas. Serious, shy even then, his favorite toys were tools. Before he entered high school, he had invented a practical muffler for motorcycles, constructed his own hot rod of parts from automobiles, and even had a mobile graveyard and monkeyed around with a steam automobile.

Business at $650,000

He was 19 when his father died in 1923. Hughes says that the government appraised the business at $650,000.

By 1949, when 75 per cent of the world's oil wells were drilled with Hughes equipment, it was worth better than 140 million. That's the price, according to the New York Times, that a Wall Street syndicate offered Hughes then. He didn't sell, for it's the fountain of income, estimated at better than 3 million yearly that Hughes' other enterprises—such as Trans World Airline, a Texas brewery, RKO Pictures, Hughes Aircraft and others.

Hughes was educated at fashionable prep schools in Boston and Ojai, Calif., studied at California Institute of Technology, and Rice Institute.

Reluctant as Flier

Pilots and mechanics around early California airfields recall Hughes as a reticent, boyish flier who never laughed much. In the air, he was a Hell-on-wheels daredevil.

His interest in flying—and his millions—led to the filming in 1928 of "Hell's Angels" with sequences which probably are the finest the screen has seen.

Hughes' passion for speed led to the founding of Hughes Aircraft in 1931, so he could design and fly his own ships. Longtime friends estimate he has made 30,000 takeoffs and landings in every describable type of craft. His design included the first twin boom fighter, later known as the deadly Lockheed Lightning, and the big Constellation.

He first won international air prominence in 1935 when, with no advance fanfare, he wrested the ground speed record from France, going 352 MPH.

Two years later he took the same ship across country for a transcontinental record of 7 hours and 28 minutes. It stood until late in World War 2.

Offered Money by Reds

The Russian government offered him big money for the plane but Hughes refused. A friend explains: "Howard was and still is Hollywood's most violent anti-communist."

Hughes' greatest air feat was the 1938 round-the-world flight. He and his crew made the trip in 91 hours, bettering by half the record of the late Wiley Post.

It was a typical Hughes operation, without fanfare.

His scientific devotion almost killed him in 1946 on the first flight of his XF-11, a highly experimental plane reputed at that time to be the fastest long range craft built. He knew for 25 seconds ahead of time that the ship was going to crash but with a designer's curiosity he loosened his safety belt, inspected the plane and convinced himself that the right propeller was causing the trouble. Then he tried to pancake it on a golf course.

Instead, he hit three homes and a garage.

His chest and left lung crushed, skull fractured, nine ribs broken, burned, bruised, shocked, his doctor announced he had little chance to live.

Business as Usual

The next day he summoned two aides to the hospital and wanted to conduct business as usual. A horrified doctor stationed a deputy sheriff outside his door with orders to admit no one but doctors and nurses.

Hovering between life and death, Hughes asked the doctor to deliver a message to the military that the propeller caused the crash.

"Tell them to study it," Hughes gasped, "I don't want this to happen to anyone else."

Soon he improved enough to find fault with his hospital bed and design a new one, ordering his engineers to build it immediately.

"We were amazed," said one hospital official. "If he had flown that bed out of the hospital, I wouldn't have been surprised."

Among his get-well messages was one from President Truman. Enclosed was the Congressional Medal awarded Hughes five years earlier for his round-the-world flight. He never had bothered to pick it up.

Cardinal Opens Prayer

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman presided yesterday at a solemn high Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral initiating an eight-day period of prayer for a reunion of Christendom.

The chair of this unity octave—the name of the period—was opened by the very Rev. Eugene Figueria, vicar general of the sponsoring Graymoor Friars of Harrison.

"The problem of Christian unity is one of the most agonizing problems of our time," said the Very Rev. Angelus Francis Delahunt, S. A., superior general of the Friars in his sermon. "The disunity of Christians—of those who profess to be the followers of Christ, is a scandal that men of good will should exert every effort to wipe out."

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Don't underestimate American intelligence. A recent survey indicates that a majority of the people are happy about the way in which the new administration has pared costs of government. But they believe it could go further.

The people believe the cost-cutting should be selective and not damaging to such things as defense. They, no doubt, have in mind some of these one-hour "coffee breaks" and use of inefficient personnel so that it takes ten people to do what one person ought to be doing.

They no doubt have in mind the mountains of red tape and blank forms, the never-ending procrastination.

And it is interesting to note that this sample of the public mind runs contrary to what the left-wing bureaucrats and job-padders would like to have you believe it is.

These bureaucrats are horrified because they see Economy slicing away Government "services" for example. But I submit that a lot of these "services" are nothing more than the government's attempts to socialize the nation. A lot of these "services" ought to be performed by private industry or delegated back to the states where they belong. Then you would see less need for prohibitive taxation and worse yet, double taxation, by both federal government and state.

$92,600 More U. S. Bonds Are Sold in Ulster Over 1952

Sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Ulster county in 1953 amounted to $877,200, an increase of $92,000 over 1952 sales, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster county Savings Bond Committee, reported today. The Series H Bond is a new current income Bond paying the same interest as the E Bond.

Edelmuth attributed the increase in Bond sales to wide popular response to higher interest and other improved terms, and to active support by banks, business and industry.

New York state sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds amounted to $469,012,000 in 1953. This is an increase of $44,851,000 over E and H sales for 1952.

"The continuing and increasing investment in U. S. Savings Bonds by Ulster county residents is a dramatic example of Americans working together for their own and their country's future security," Edelmuth declared. "At the same time, our business and industrial firms maintaining the payroll savings plan for regular Bond purchases and our banks which sell and issue Bonds recognize that these shares in America help preserve our national economic strength."

The Robot Waiter

By FRANK TRIPP

An inventor has created a gadget that imperils the function of the waiter. Such human service as would be needed could be performed by a bus boy. The diner deals directly with the kitchen.

This robot number is a push-button device that takes the place of the menu. On it, with each item opposite a push button, is the day's bill of fare; everything from soup to nuts at one's finger tips.

That is, everything to eat; but as yet there are no nose connections, which likely is an oversight due to early correction if the "silent butler" is to become popular. That hour of illuminating conversation between your arrival and time to eat is not provided for.

YOU CAN PUSH buttons and your sizzling steak and hash browns immediately go on the fire, but you're not ready for food yet and the only waiter in sight is a chrome panel with little black buttons.

If the sizzler had been the immediate objective you'd have stayed at the office another hour and earned your salary. This is your first encounter with the key board, so what do you do?

Since there's nobody in sight but you and the other suckers, and no button takes care of what you came early for, you still have to walk over to the high stools; so you do. They'll have to correct this, you think.

YOU ALSO THINK that food and libation are not the only things that draw people together in public dining places worth a second visit. There's something else.

Now that there are none around, you're impressed that glad-to-see-you faces are a factor as important a lure as the cuisine and vintage. You miss those good-natured people and the welcome that they radiated. Right away quick, you don't like the robot. Half of the pleasure of a good meal is being served by a favorite waiter, who knows your little idiosyncrasies and caters to them.

More than half of the fun of the cafe cocktail hour is the jolly banter that comes across the mahogany from a wise old-timer—or a more youthful aspirant to customer affection. And they're getting scarce.

THEN, on the other hand, you ponder that sourpuss servers drive away more trade than cold soup or abbreviated today. You know places that swarm with itchy-palmed arrogant who only resemble to a waiter is a numbered badge and a union card.

So maybe there's a future for the robot waiter after all. Just think; when your sweetie sneers at humble brew you could call a taxi, send her home and spend an exciting evening at the metered end of a brass spigot.

Which would be equally so-

BRITAIN SEEMS TO HOLD KEY

Surely this ought to be the year of decision on the question of the European Defense Community.

Everyone knows that its fate hinges upon what the French do about it. And everyone knows that France's political leaders are extremely unenthusiastic about EDC.

Their lack of enthusiasm stems, of course, from their fear that Germany would tend to dominate the six-nation army. To balance that fear, the French want assurances from both Britain and the United States that they will keep armed forces in Western Europe a long time—perhaps 50 years.

Beyond this, the French would also like to have the British associated with EDC—indeed with all efforts at European unity—much more closely than Britain itself wishes.

On the question of troops in Europe, both Britain and the U. S. understand the political importance as well as the strategic value of contributing forces to the general defense. At the same time, Secretary of State Dulles has warned that American lawmakers' patience will wear thin if France does nothing and Germany is consequently barred from taking part in its own defense.

Apparently the French have imagined that they could wait for greater assurances from America before going ahead. But certainly Dulles has now disabused them of that notion. We expect the French to act first. When they have approved EDC, then we may extend to them firmer guarantees of continued American military participation in Europe.

But up to now the French have not moved in response to Dulles' prod. Instead, they are looking more keenly toward Britain, in the hope of finding there the prior assurances that could make EDC palatable to timid French politicians.

Fresh reports from London hint that British leaders are listening politely to these new overtures from France. Jean Monnet, architect of European unity efforts in the economic sphere, is trying to link Britain more tightly with the European Coal and Steel Community over which he presides. He believes that if he can succeed in that, he will have laid the foundation for a broader unity—including Britain—in the political and military fields as well.

Even Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany is said to endorse this attempt, since European-minded Germans realize any bid by them for leadership would be viewed with grave suspicion.

So, in this first stage of what ought to be EDC's year of decision, Britain seems to hold the key. If the British can overcome their reluctance enough to tie in more closely with Western Europe, then the French may at last move to ratify EDC.

Without that, the whole enterprise may deteriorate into a waiting game between France and America. If neither then were willing to act first, the project might collapse, leaving Western Europe's defenses imperiled. For no practical alternative to EDC has yet been proposed by any Western statesman.

SHARING SECRETS

For some time there has been debate as to whether we would share some of our knowledge of atomic weapons with our allies. In his State of the Union message the President recommended that we do just that.

The days when knowledge of how to explode an atomic or a hydrogen bomb was exclusively ours have passed. We know definitely that the Communists have exploded such bombs. Behaving as if that knowledge were still our secret alone is a bit like taking consolation from the fact that a strong lock has been placed on the barn from which the horse has been stolen.

By making a move to share some of our atomic know-how with our friends we will be eliminating a source of irritation to them that has troubled our relations with them for some time. We will also be building their strength against possible aggression. The stronger our allies are, the stronger are our

THE RICH AND THE BIZARRE

During the past two or three weeks, I have been wondering why our people get so excited about the matrimonial misadventures of the rich and the bizarre. The weddings lack charm and beauty; the photographs of the multiple-married show rather haggard women upon whose faces life has often written cruelly.

Why should mere wealth make people conspicuous or important or newsworthy? Suppose someone did inherit 10 or 20 or 30 million dollars and does not know how to use the money, is that particularly interesting? In England, estates are entailed to prevent the inheritors of great wealth from dissipating the inheritance; in the United States, foundations are established to make sure that some of the money will be put to good purpose.

I passed a hotel and saw a crowd. There were news and radio men and all sorts of cameras and sound machines to capture a whiff of a wedding of two persons who, in sum, had gone through it a total between them of nine or ten times. I cannot remember which. The crowd, rather than the marriage, captured my curiosity. Why were they there?

Was it because one of the parties was rich or was it that both of the parties were so often married? I know of a man, a refugee with a title, who has made a specialty of marrying American girls of a sort who provide him with an annual stipend and then pay him off to rid themselves of an incubus. It is a sort of alimony for males. I have often wondered why these girls go through all the trouble. I am told that he dances divinely, but surely expert dancers could be hired for less without the involvement of multiple marriage.

I am also told that he has a line of conversation that women like. He talks about clothes and jewels and dining places all over the world. He has been everywhere. He knows just the right place to fit every mood. But why do they have to marry him?

Then when the divorce comes, it is a real thriller, because at that point lawyers get into the act. Lawyers are the best free advertisers next to psychiatrists. They manage to get their names into newspapers and on radio without paying for the space. As a matter of fact, it is their clients and not they who make the news by a public display of vile manners and bad morals. Unless they display these, nobody would pay any attention to them. Who really cares how much the wife gets as alimony or to dissolve a sacrament? It used to be that collusion was frowned upon in divorce cases, but now the lawyers announce the collusive settlement to show how smart they are and to get other clients. And the courts do not object.

Some pundits in our times call all this maturity. They feel it is mature to make divorce as important as marriage. If a mother wants to become a celebrity, all she seems to need to do is get a notorious divorce. I wonder how many are ashamed of themselves when the first flush of attention has led to nothing more than a few clippings in a scrap-book. Perhaps it is not maturity at all; perhaps it is spiritual senility.

Or maybe, it is the lust for fun which is carried to the ludicrous. Not having been the fifth or sixth husband of any woman, I cannot speak from personal experience, but I have often wondered what qualities the latest one has which the others have lacked.

Perhaps because I am naive about queer people, I cannot grasp what "the international set" is. Secretaries are people who drift between New York and Paris, taking in perhaps the Riviera and Rome as side-shows, and bored with themselves, keep moving from place to place. I know some of these people and they always look so distressingly tired of themselves. Not doing anything useful or sufficiently absorbing, they devote their lives to fighting boredom.

Or maybe, Bugsie Siegel got bumped off just as he was moving on to what, if it were not so fascinating to see what a second-class racketeer could do about it. He might have made them tick in the world of crime and vice.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

STUDY OF THE AGING PROCESS

Most of us today are acquainted with the word geriatrics which is the care of the elderly, particularly those past 65 years of age. We may not be so well acquainted with the word gerontology, which is a study of the aging process.

In Geriatrics, Dr. Orin Yost, medical director of the Edgewood Foundation, Orangeburg, South Carolina, states: "Though some systems of the individual's body may be growing old while other systems are working properly, there is inevitably a weakening of the physical organism. Some of the weakening processes can be noted such as loss of height and of lung capacity, wasting of specific tissue elements (muscles and nerves), alteration of the lenses in the eyes, thinning and whitening of the hair, drying of the organs, alteration and deterioration of blood vessels, drying of the skin, alterations in sex organs, changes in the voice, loss of calcium (lime) from the bones, disappearance of certain nerve cells of the brain, digestive disturbances and a general tiredness of the organism as well as other symptoms."

It is at a time like this, when the body is losing some of its fighting ability, that infections distribute their poisons throughout the various parts of the body, and the body gradually continues to lose some of its defenses against injury and disease. Also tiredness of the body is accompanied by tiredness of the brain which, in turn, brings about alterations in the personality of the individual, one outstanding symptom or change being irritability in one who was formerly kind and forbearing. Some of these personality and mental changes are impairment of memory for recent events, lessened ability for mental work, lessening of speed and accuracy of thinking, disinclination toward new things, lack of initiative, aversion to the outside world, intolerance and irritability.

Fortunately, the above changes with their symptoms are not always present in the elderly and comparatively few show mental or emotional symptoms to make hospitalization necessary.

Even in the elderly who are healthy, there is some wasting of body tissue and a decrease in vitality for "involution" is as truly normal as evolution.

Dr. Yost further points out that elderly persons are heir to more illnesses than are those of any other age group; on any given day the amount or degree of disability of the elderly is two and one half times as large as that for the total population, while chronic illnesses among them is four times as large.

It is, of course, true that aged people today become emotionally ill because of many problems beyond their control. Social security or old-age pensions solve some problems but not all of them.

Older people want to feel independent as well as wanted. They wish to retain their dignity and self-respect by doing useful work instead of spending their time in idleness.

Another Heartbreak Ridge

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—The first hundred days of the second year of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration now seem destined to go down in history as the period in which he finally got specific and spelled out his program in detail. The first hundred days of his first year in office were somewhat disappointing in that respect.

They could in no sense be compared with the first hundred days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration, which made an awful lot of history. Such a comparison may be justified, however, in the hundred days ahead.

For in President Eisenhower's new State of the Union message to Congress he mentioned specifically 14 other messages he now has in preparation for transmission to Congress. He also listed some 50 special programs and projects he wanted Congress to go to work on. This does not include the 25 tax reforms which he said would be included in the budget message.

The President's heart-to-heart television talk to the nation on Jan. 4 was criticized somewhat for its generalities. The hour-long State of the Union message also dealt extensively in broad statements of principles. But this latter speech did reveal in outline that a tremendous amount of staff work has been done.

All the commissions and advisory groups that have been at work in the past year are beginning to pay off.

Special Messages Spell It Out

In addition to the Jan. 11 farm policy and Taft-Hartley reform messages, special messages of the next few weeks will include: Social Security law changes on Jan. 14; a health plan on Jan. 18; a housing plan on Jan. 25, and the economic report on Jan. 28. Messages on foreign trade policy and federal-state government relationship are promised after the special commissions investigating these subjects report.

Other new commissions are proposed: One is a permanent commission to regulate postal rates in an effort to take that controversial subject out of Congress and politics. Another is a federal commission on aid to education to follow a series of conferences to be held in each state during the coming year.

Special messages on other subjects are promised. They include continuing foreign aid to Korea, Indo-China, Formosa and Europe; changes in the atomic energy law and specific reforms on the national defense set-up; a series of special messages on economic measures; a number of proposals on conservation of natural resources; several important civil rights proposals, including denial of citizenship to Communists and granting of the vote to 18-year-olds by constitutional amendment. The purpose of relaying all these ideas in summary is to emphasize that this is no negative program of a stand-by administration intended only to quiet things down after the rowdy reforms of the New and Fair Deal days.

What President Eisenhower has come up with is the outline of a dynamic program in itself.

Took a Year to Prepare Program

On Inauguration Day, 1953, it was freely predicted that it might take the new administration a year in which to put together its program. The year is now up, and here it is. The work load this throws on Congress is tremendous. The "must" program which the President gave Congress a year ago consisted of only a dozen measures. The President's own summary of his accomplishments in the first year listed a like number.

But now he is asking Congress for five times as much work, and in an election year. If the Republican record is to be judged on how much of the Eisenhower program is adopted, the Congress will have to work in the next six months as if he hadn't worked since Roosevelt's first one hundred days in 1933.

There, perhaps, is the big catch to the President's message. The Eisenhower program that finally emerges is going to be what Congress says it is and not just what the President recommends. For the evenly divided Congress of today is in no sense a "rubber-stamp" outfit.

Two examples will point this up. The President's ideas on Social Security changes go to Congress Jan. 14. On Jan. 6—the day Congress convened and the day before the President announced his intentions—Rep. Carl Curtis of Nebraska introduced a bill incorporating his committee's ideas on how the system should be revamped.

Even before Congress convened, Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, announced that the question of farm price support should be settled by the farmers. He didn't even wait to find out what the President's "flexible" program might be.

High Pressure Sales

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—M. V. Burleson, owner of a used car lot, said he turned down an applicant for a salesman's job, explaining that business was too slow to warrant extra help. Attending to other business off the lot, he returned to find the stranger closing a deal for a car. Burleson signed the papers and the applicant sold another car. Closing the deal, Burleson looked out his office to see the man finishing another sale. Before he could reach the scene, he said the man pocketed a $75 down payment and left the lot. He filed a complaint.

Old Question Arises as Result of Secretary Dulles' Statement on Retaliation

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 18 — When Secretary of State Dulles announced last week that the policy of the United States would be to "retaliate instantly" against attack, the use of the word "instantly" raised questions in the minds of some observers here as to whether the President really has the power to wage a war without asking the previous consent of Congress.

This is an old question but it takes on new interest whenever the executive states the intention of this country in a military sense.

The fact is that the President of the United States always has had from the beginning of the republic and has asserted many times the right to order our military forces into instant action without waiting for approval from Congress.

While the constitution says Congress alone has the right "to declare war," the same document provides for the use of military power when an undeclared war occurs. Thus, the constitution gives the executive the right to protect the several states "against invasion."

When the Japanese launched their undeclared war on December 7, 1941 at Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt ordered instant retaliation. Then he asked Congress for the passage of a resolution "ratifying the existence of a state of war."

The same thing happened when the United States entered World War I. After dealing patiently with the many attacks on the lives of American citizens traveling on merchant ships, President Wilson took cognizance of the announcement by the German naval ministry of an intention to wage "unrestricted submarine warfare" on all ships, including American merchant vessels. The President asked Congress in April 1917 not for a "declaration of war" but a resolution asking for a ratification of the existence of a state of war.

Mr. Wilson even in a minor war was scrupulous about asking ratification from Congress. When a German merchant ship was about to land munitions at the Mexican port of Vera Cruz in April 1914 to aid the unrecognized Huerta government which had insulted the American flag, the President ordered the navy at four o'clock in the morning to seize the port. He then went before Congress a couple days later and asked for a resolution asking for ratification of his action and he got it.

Where President Truman made his mistake was not in his original decision to order American military forces instantly into Korea for he did this in pursuance of a resolution of the Security Council of the United Nations to repel aggression. The mistake of Mr. Truman was in failing at any time afterward to go to Congress to ask for a ratification of his action which probably would have been given by overwhelming vote. It is true that Mr. Truman consulted leaders of both parties and members of the foreign relations committees of both Houses, but this is not a substitute for "constitutional processes" which incidentally is the phrase now used in the new treaties in the Pacific including the one recently signed with the government of the Republic of Korea.

These new treaties with Australia and New Zealand and the Philippines do not commit the United States to instant action though they do not preclude it. They do pledge American action through "constitutional processes" which means that the Congress will be given a voice in ratifying an action taken or in agreeing to a proposed action in advance, depending on circumstances.

Failure on the part of Mr. Truman to ask and get from Congress a resolution ratifying the existence of a state of war in Korea was not an oversight. It was a deliberate action to avoid the use of our full military and naval power against China and to avoid embarrassment with Great Britain which did not wish to cancel its diplomatic recognition of Red China for fear of losing Hong Kong. It also has left a residue of unsettled legal problems which will plague our courts for many years. In casualties the Korean war was the third largest "war" in our history against a foreign enemy but legally it wasn't a "war."

The American Constitution is eminently suitable for our defense in an atomic age because the President has the right to order our forces into immediate action instantly and without waiting for previous congressional assent. His power is clear when an attack is made on United States territory or ships and also where an attack is launched against an ally of the United States especially where it is provided explicitly in a treaty that an attack on one of our countrymen is in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—can be regarded as an attack on the United States. Here the treaty itself—approved by the Senate—has defined the obligation of defense concretely but the discretion as to whether or not to retaliate is solely that of the commander-in-chief of our military forces, the President.

But even in such a case any President who failed to ask Congress for a resolution of ratification immediately afterward would be making a grave mistake. The chances are Mr. Eisenhower, confronted by any such contingency, would take the military action required, and, at the first opportunity afterward, would go to Congress with a request for a resolution ratifying what he had done. ### BRITAIN SEEMS TO HOLD KEY

Surely this ought to be the year of decision on the question of the European Defense Community.

Everyone knows that its fate hinges upon what the French do about it. And everyone knows that France's political leaders are extremely unenthusiastic about EDC.

Their lack of enthusiasm stems, of course, from their fear that Germany would tend to dominate the six-nation army. To balance that fear, the French want assurances from both Britain and the United States that they will keep armed forces in Western Europe a long time—perhaps 50 years.

Beyond this, the French would also like to have the British associated with EDC—indeed with all efforts at European unity—much more closely than Britain itself wishes.

On the question of troops in Europe, both Britain and the U. S. understand the political importance as well as the strategic value of contributing forces to the general defense. At the same time, Secretary of State Dulles has warned that American lawmakers' patience will wear thin if France does nothing and Germany is consequently barred from taking part in its own defense.

Apparently the French have imagined that they could wait for greater assurances from America before going ahead. But certainly Dulles has now disabused them of that notion. We expect the French to act first. When they have approved EDC, then we may extend to them firmer guarantees of continued American military participation in Europe.

But up to now the French have not moved in response to Dulles' prod. Instead, they are looking more keenly toward Britain, in the hope of finding there the prior assurances that could make EDC palatable to timid French politicians.

Fresh reports from London hint that British leaders are listening politely to these new overtures from France. Jean Monnet, architect of European unity efforts in the economic sphere, is trying to link Britain more tightly with the European Coal and Steel Community over which he presides. He believes that if he can succeed in that, he will have laid the foundation for a broader unity—including Britain—in the political and military fields as well.

Even Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany is said to endorse this attempt, since European-minded Germans realize any bid by them for leadership would be viewed with grave suspicion.

So, in this first stage of what ought to be EDC's year of decision, Britain seems to hold the key. If the British can overcome their reluctance enough to tie in more closely with Western Europe, then the French may at last move to ratify EDC.

Without that, the whole enterprise may deteriorate into a waiting game between France and America. If neither then were willing to act first, the project might collapse, leaving Western Europe's defenses imperiled. For no practical alternative to EDC has yet been proposed by any Western statesman.

SHARING SECRETS

For some time there has been debate as to whether we would share some of our knowledge of atomic weapons with our allies. In his State of the Union message the President recommended that we do just that.

The days when knowledge of how to explode an atomic or a hydrogen bomb was exclusively ours have passed. We know definitely that the Communists have exploded such bombs. Behaving as if that knowledge were still our secret alone is a bit like taking consolation from the fact that a strong lock has been placed on the barn from which the horse has been stolen.

By making a move to share some of our atomic know-how with our friends we will be eliminating a source of irritation to them that has troubled our relations with them for some time. We will be building their strength against possible aggression. The stronger our allies are, the stronger are our

During the past two or three weeks, I have been wondering why our people get so excited about the matrimonial misadventures of the rich and the bizarre. The weddings lack charm and beauty; the photographs of the multiple-married show rather haggard women upon whose faces life has often written cruelty.

Why should mere wealth make people conspicuous or important or newsworthy? Suppose someone did inherit 10 or 20 or 30 million dollars and does not know how to use the money, is that particularly interesting? In England, estates are entailed to prevent the inheritors of great wealth from dissipating the inheritance; in the United States, foundations are established to make sure that some of the money will be put to good purpose.

I passed a hotel and saw a crowd. There were news and radio men and all sorts of cameras and sound machines to capture a whiff of a wedding of two persons who, in sum, had gone through it a total between them of nine or ten times. I cannot remember which. The crowd, rather than the marriage, captured my curiosity. Why were they there?

Was it because one of the parties was rich or was it that both of the parties were so often married? I know of a man, a refugee with a title, who has made a specialty of marrying American girls of a sort who provide him with an annual stipend and then pay him off to rid themselves of an incubus. It is a sort of alimony for males. I have often wondered why these girls go through all the trouble. I am told that he dances divinely, but surely expert dancers could be hired for less without the involvement of multiple marriage.

I am also told that he has a line of conversation that women like. He talks about clothes and jewels and dining places all over the world. He has been everywhere. He knows just the right place to fit every mood. But why do they have to marry him?

Then when the divorce comes, it is a real thriller, because at that point lawyers get into the act. Lawyers are the best free advertisers next to psychiatrists. They manage to get their names into newspapers and on radio without paying for the space. As a matter of fact, it is their clients and not they who make the news by a public display of vile manners and bad morals. Unless they display these, nobody would pay any attention to them. Who really cares how much the wife gets as alimony or to dissolve a sacrament? It used to be that collusion was frowned upon in divorce cases, but now the lawyers announce the collusive settlement to show how smart they are and to get other clients. And the courts do not object.

Some pundits in our times call all this maturity. They feel it is mature to make divorce as important as marriage. If a mother wants to become a celebrity, all she seems to need to do is to get a notorious divorce. I wonder how many are ashamed of themselves when the first flush of attention has led to nothing more than a few clippings in a scrap-book. Perhaps it is not maturity at all; perhaps it is spiritual stultification.

Or maybe, it is the lust for fun which is carried to the ludicrous. Not having been the fifth or sixth husband of any woman, I cannot speak from personal experience, but I have often wondered what quakes the latest one has which the others have lacked.

Perhaps because I am naive about queer people, I cannot grasp what "the international set" is. Seems these are people who drift between New York and Paris, taking in perhaps the Riviera and Rome as side-shows, and bored with themselves, keep moving from place to place. I know some of these people and they always look so distressingly tired of themselves. Not doing anything useful or sufficiently absorbing, they devote their lives to fighting boredom.

It is too bad Bugsie Siegel got bumped off just as he was moving in on this mob! It would have been fascinating to see what a second-class racketeer could do about it. He might have given them tick in the world of crime and vice.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

STUDY OF THE AGING PROCESS

Most of us today are acquainted with the word geriatrics which is the care of the elderly, particularly those past 65 years of age. We may not be so well acquainted with the word gerontology, which is a study of the aging process.

In Geriatrics, Dr. Orin Yost, medical director of the Edgewood Foundation, Orangeburg, South Carolina, states: "Though some systems of the individual's body may be growing old while other systems are working properly, there is inevitably a weakening of the physical organism. Some of the weakening processes can be noted such as loss of height and of lung capacity, wasting of specific tissue elements (muscles and nerves), alteration of the lenses in the eyes, thinning and whitening of the hair, drying of the organs, alteration and deterioration of the blood vessels, drying of the skin, alterations in sex organs, changes in the voice, loss of calcium (lime) from the bones, disappearance of certain nerve cells of the brain, digestive disturbances and a general tiredness of the organism as well as other symptoms."

It is at a time like this, when the body is losing some of its fighting ability, that infections distribute their poisons throughout the various parts of the body, and the body gradually continues to lose some of its defenses against injury and disease. Also tiredness of the body is accompanied by tiredness of the brain which, in turn, brings about alterations in the personality of the individual. One outstanding symptom or change being irritability in one who was formerly kind and forbearing. Some of these personality and mental changes are impairment of memory for recent events, lessened ability for mental work, lessening of speed and accuracy of thinking, disinclination toward new things, lack of initiative, aversion to the outside world, intolerance and irritability.

Fortunately, the above changes with their symptoms are not always present in the elderly and comparatively few show mental or emotional symptoms to make hospitalization necessary.

Even in the elderly who are healthy, there is some wasting of body tissue and a decrease in vitality for "involution is as truly normal as evolution."

Dr. Yost further points out that elderly persons are heir to more illnesses than are those of any other age group; on any given day the amount or degree of disability of the elderly is two and one half times as large as that for the total population, while chronic illnesses among them is four times as large.

It is, of course, true that aged people today become emotionally ill because of many problems beyond their control. Social security or old-age pensions solve some problems but not all of them.

Older people want to feel independent as well as wanted. They wish to retain their dignity and self-respect by doing useful work instead of spending their time in idleness.

own defenses.

The President pointed out in his speech that a unified effort on the part of all forces opposed to communism is the best guarantee of security for the free world. If sharing our knowledge of new and effective weapons contributes to that unity we owe it to ourselves and to our allies to do so as soon as possible.

Another Heartbreak Ridge

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—The first hundred days of the second year of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration now seem destined to go down in history as the period in which he finally got specific and spelled out his program in detail. The first hundred days of his first year in office were somewhat disappointing in that respect.

They could in no sense be compared with the first hundred days of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration, which made an awful lot of history. Such a comparison may be justified, however, in the hundred days ahead.

For in President Eisenhower's new State of the Union message to Congress he mentioned specifically 14 other messages he now has in preparation for transmission to Congress. He also listed some 50 special programs and projects he wanted Congress to go to work on. This does not include the 25 tax reforms which he said would be included in the budget message.

The President's heart-to-heart television talk to the nation on Jan. 4 was criticized somewhat for its generalities. The hour-long State of the Union message also dealt extensively in broad statement of principles. But this latter speech did reveal in outline that a tremendous amount of staff work has been done.

All the commissions and advisory groups that have been at work in the past year are beginning to pay off.

Special Messages Spell It Out

In addition to the Jan. 11 farm policy and Taft-Hartley reform messages, special messages of the next few weeks will include: Social Security law changes on Jan. 14; a health plan on Jan. 18; housing plan on Jan. 25, and the economic report on Jan. 28. Messages on foreign trade policy and federal-state government relationship are promised after the special commissions investigating these subjects report.

Other new commissions are proposed: One is a permanent commission to regulate postal rates in an effort to take that controversial subject out of Congress and politics. Another is a federal commission on aid to education to follow a series of conferences to be held in each state during the coming year.

Special messages on other subjects are promised. They include continuing foreign aid to Korea, Indo-China, Formosa and Europe; changes in the atomic energy law and specific reforms on the national defense set-up; a series of special messages on economic measures; a number of proposals on conservation of natural resources; several important civil rights proposals, including denial of citizenship to Communists and granting of the vote to 18-year-olds by constitutional amendment.

The purpose of relisting all these ideas in summary is to emphasize that this is no negative program of a stand-by administration intended only to quiet things down after the rowdy reforms of the New Deal days.

What President Eisenhower has come up with is the outline of a dynamic program in itself.

Look a Year to Prepare Program

On Inauguration Day, 1953, it was freely predicted that it might take the new administration a year in which to put together its program. The year is now up, and here it is. The work load this throws on Congress is tremendous. The "must" program which the President gave Congress a year ago consisted of only a dozen measures. The President's own summary of his accomplishments in the first year listed a like number.

But now he is asking Congress for five times as much work, and in an election year. If the Republican record is to be judged on how much of the Eisenhower program is adopted, the Congress will have to work in the next six months as it hasn't worked since Roosevelt's first one hundred days in 1933.

There, perhaps, is the big catch to the President's message. The Eisenhower program that finally emerges is going to be what Congress says it is and not just what the President recommends. For the evenly divided Congress of today is in no sense a "rubber-stamp" outfit.

Two examples will point this up. The President's ideas on Social Security changes go to Congress Jan. 14. ## Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Looking back in the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal of Thursday, Feb. 13, 1896, I ran across the following: "From some unknown cause, a fire started under a stairway of the State of New York National Bank Building Saturday about 5 p. m. Some $300 in damage was done by smoke, water and fire. The firemen were promptly on hand, and with axes cut a hole through the stair and soon flooded out the fire. There was an immense amount of smoke which brought out a record crowd. It seems, 'the fire started in a rest room, on one of the walls of which hangs a Hudson River Telephone. It is thought that perhaps the telephone wire might have become charged from the Colonial railroad wire (trolley car) on the outside and the fire thus started. An investigation is being made.'

Good old-fashioned weather is also described in this paper. The freshet of Thursday, Feb. 13, 1896 takes four columns of fine print and it covered the entire city, so it seems. They start with: "The oldest inhabitant never saw such a rain as that of Thursday afternoon." It seems the water came down faster than gravity could take it off the sidewalk. The trolley cars had to crawl to keep from water splashing their motors. The water washed the ice around and made it dangerous to walk. Cellars especially in The Strand section, were flooded. The pile driver of Thomas Sturgeon was sunk at Kingston Point, and pile driver owned by Joseph Powley was washed out into the river.

Another item tells of a school teacher of this state who thrashed a boy of 19 one day and the next day thrashed three boys whose combined weight was 510 pounds, although she weighed only 120. It seems the reason she could keep discipline in her classes without aid from the principal was because she was the crack female athlete at the Fredonia Normal school. Others said, the secret of her strength was in the fact she had red hair. According to the item, it seems the suburban district school trustees to pick red-headed school teachers for schools with difficult students. Of course, that was back in 1896, when "spare the rod and spoil the child" was written in copy books by many unwilling students.

It must have been something to see Friday morning when they said the river between Kingston Point and Rhinebeck was free from ice, but the ice brought down by the freshet was piled on top of the river ice between the dyke where the Mary Powell was bedded and Kingston Point. The ice from the upper creek was mixed up with logs and other drift wood and even an old canal boat was brought down with the ice. No doubt many Kingstonians stood on the dock near Ferry street to see the Rondout creek rushing down, as it took along some half dozen steamboats, coal elevators, and over 12 canal boats out of the creek. A dozen or more other steamers, belonging to the Cornell Steamboat Co., were piled up in a heap between the Island Dock and the Rondout shore. The docks of the D&H Canal Co. were also heavily damaged when the ice broke loose with an awful crash and took some 20 steamboats down with the flood. Heavy ropes, which bound the boats to the docks, snapped like threads, the reporter described.

Counting on Luck Will Cause Trouble

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Experienced card players often become superstitious, since they know how large a part luck plays in the distribution of the cards. My own feeling is that it's unlucky to be superstitious. What's more, if you're thoughtful enough you can take out insurance against bad luck.

In today's hand, for example, every suit except spades broke badly. This was unlucky, to be sure, but South could have provided against the bad breaks.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the king of diamonds and continued the suit. South ruffed the second diamond, led a heart to dummy's ace, and returned a club towards his own hand.

There was no reason for this play since the double of two clubs located the ace of that suit in the West hand. West captured the king of clubs with the ace and led another diamond, forcing South to ruff for a second time. South now made the fatal mistake of leading the queen of clubs. East ruffed and led a high heart, forcing South to ruff for a third time.

There was now no chance of bringing in the club suit. The only play left was a cross-ruff, but South couldn't ruff safely with dummy's low trump for fear of an over-ruff by East. Declarer could make his own five trumps and two ruffs in dummy, together with the ace of hearts. The total was eight tricks, one short of the contract.

The bidding should have warned South that both hearts and clubs were going to break very badly. If South had made up his mind to face these bad breaks, he would have fulfilled his contract.

The correct line of play is to ruff the second round of diamonds and lead the king of clubs at once to force out the ace. South ruffs another diamond and must then lead a low club (not the queen). This allows West to win with the ten of clubs.

If West then leads anything but a diamond, South can actually make 10 tricks. A fourth round of diamonds compels South to ruff in dummy with the low trump. South now makes his eight trumps separately together with the ace of hearts, for nine tricks.

Section of Bronx Flooded by Break

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—A break in a high pressure water main flooded a section of the Bronx yesterday, blocked automobile traffic off the Grand Concourse and interrupted subway service for six hours.

The break occurred near the intersection of the Concourse and 179th street. The water, pouring down through gratings onto tracks of the Independent subway, flooded the line in places to a depth of four and one half feet.

Water supply to buildings in the affected area was cut off at 2:35 a. m., when city workers located the break, an hour and a half after the deluge began.

Of none of these remedies work, your doctor has a number of measures, one of which will probably turn the trick. Antispasmodic drugs and carbon dioxide inhalation are sometimes prescribed. In refractory cases, especially when the spasms are preventing other necessary treatment of the sick person, phrenic nerve block or crush may be necessary.

Fortunately most cases of hiccup stop of themselves in a short time, no matter what remedy is tried.

Small Fire Delays Traffic in Terminal

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Train traffic into Grand Central Terminal was delayed up to 90 minutes late last night and early today by a small fire which broke out in the locomotive of a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train.

The six-car train, which carried approximately 300 passengers, was halted on the elevated tracks at 117th St. and Park Ave., to permit firemen to extinguish the blaze.

A terminal dispatcher said between 8 and 10 trains were delayed when power on the two inbound tracks was shut off at 11:11 p. m.

Some of the trains later were backed up to 125th St. and their passengers discharged. The others, which had not reached the 125th St. Station when the power was shut off, were emptied there after power was restored at 12:45 a. m. today.

The five passenger cars attached to the burning locomotive were also taken back to 125th St., while the locomotive was hauled into Grand Central for repairs.

Health for All

HICCUP

"... hold your breath, and if this fails, then gargle with a little water, and if the hiccup continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze."

More than 2,000 years ago, the philosopher Plato described this "sure cure" for hiccup. It is still being used, and so are a host of others ranging from sudden fright to the sticking of the head in a paper bag. Everyone has his favorite remedy and almost any of them can claim to be successful, because usually hiccup yields to simple remedies or none at all.

Hiccup is a sudden involuntary drawing-in of breath due to a spasm of the diaphragm. The "hics" come several times a minute and may be as rapid as two a second. They are the result of some irritation of the nerve pathways and may be caused by a disease of toxic condition, overeating or drinking, or merely a fit of laughter. There have even been epidemics of hiccup which have been variously explained as mass hysteria or the result of a virus infection. When a patient suffering from disease develops hiccups, the condition can present serious problems. However, most of us are concerned only with that sudden embarrassing attack of "hics" for which we get anything but sympathy from our neighbors. If the attack doesn't end quickly under Plato's treatment, you might try light pressure on the eyeballs or the lower part of the throat, or hold a paper bag over your mouth and breathe in and out a few times.

If none of these remedies work, your doctor has a number of measures, one of which will probably turn the trick. Antispasmodic drugs and carbon dioxide inhalation are sometimes prescribed. In refractory cases, especially when the spasms are preventing other necessary treatment of the sick person, phrenic nerve block or crush may be necessary.

Fortunately most cases of hiccup stop of themselves in a short time, no matter what remedy is tried.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, Jan. 18 (AP)—A war bonus for servicemen and women who served in the Korean theatre was proposed in the Legislature today.

Sen. Seymour Halpern of Queens and Assemblyman Robert Wamsley of Nyack, chairman of the Assembly Military Affairs Committee, offered the bill in the form of a constitutional amendment.

If the amendment is approved by the Legislature and the voters, they said, the amount of the bonus would be set by legislative act.

Halpern and Wamsley said that in Korean "many of our New York men and women suffered hardships equal to or greater than those suffered by veterans of World War 2, who received bonuses."

"We now know of the atrocities and the extreme pressures put upon our prisoners," the sponsors said, adding that we "owe our everlasting thanks to those who served in the Korean theatre. A cash bonus is the least we can offer as a token of our appreciation."

The state voted a 400-million-dollar bond issue to pay a bonus to World War 2 veterans. It is being liquidated through a share of the income tax and a penny-a-pack on cigarettes.

Morals Sentence Asked

Another bill offered today proposed indeterminate sentences—from one day to life—for persons convicted twice of impairing the morals of children.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, sponsored the measure, which he said was designed "to impound these 'mad dogs' of society and keep them impounded until they are treated and cured."

Desmond said that a person convicted of endangering the morals of a child, after a previous conviction for the same or a more serious offense, should be held guilty of a felony and given an indeterminate sentence.

A 1950 law provides indeterminate sentences for certain sex-offenders. They are given psychiatric examinations every two years and released when regarded as cured.

Desmond said that despite the 1950 law, "a person found guilty of impairing the morals of a child may escape with the light penalty of a misdemeanor and be free to prey on children again."

"A first offense may indicate a temporary aberration but a second offense proves the offender clearly is a menace," Desmond said.

Queens Will Hold Defense Exercise

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—A civil defense communications exercise will be held in Queens tomorrow night, but there will be no outdoor activity during the test.

The New York city Office of Civil Defense said all activity will be confined to communications centers throughout the borough. The location of the centers has not been disclosed.

During the exercise, it will be assumed that an atomic bomb exploded at water level on Flushing Bay channel about an eighth of a mile west of 31st avenue, Flushing, Queens. The Civil Defense Office said such an explosion would result in serious radiological contamination over a large area.

Civil defense volunteers participating in the test will send messages they would relay through communications centers under the circumstances detailed in the problem.

bringing in the club suit. The only play left was a cross-ruff, but South couldn't ruff safely with dummy's low trump for fear of an over-ruff by East. Declarer could make his own five trumps and two ruffs in dummy, together with the ace of hearts. The total was eight tricks, one short of the contract.

The bidding should have warned South that both hearts and clubs were going to break very badly. If South had made up his mind to face these bad breaks, he would have fulfilled his contract.

The correct line of play is to ruff the second round of diamonds and lead the king of clubs at once to force out the ace. South ruffs another diamond and must then lead a club (not the queen). This allows West to win with the ten of clubs.

If West then leads anything but a diamond, South can actually make 10 tricks. A fourth round of diamonds compels South to ruff in dummy with the low trump. South now makes his eight trumps separately together with the ace of hearts, for nine tricks.

Section of Bronx Flooded by Break

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—A break in a high pressure water main flooded a section of the Bronx yesterday, blocked automobile traffic off the Grand Concourse and interrupted subway service for six hours.

The break occurred near the intersection of the Concourse and 179th street. The water, pouring down through gratings onto tracks of the Independent subway, flooded the line in places to a depth of four and one half feet.

Water supply to buildings in the affected area was cut off at 2:35 a. m. when city workers located the break, an hour and a half after the deluge began.

Our word "ballyhoo" comes from an Irish town, Ballyhoo, in the county of Cork. The word was first used by English people, who maintained that Ballyhoo had a great many law-breakers among its citizens. Since they made so much noise, they called attention to themselves. We use the word now to mean "a big noise" that accompanies something.

Small Fire Delays Traffic in Terminal

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Train traffic into Grand Central Terminal was delayed up to 90 minutes late last night and early today by a small fire which broke out in the locomotive of a New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad train.

The six-car train, which carried approximately 300 passengers, was halted on the elevated tracks at 117th St. and Park Ave., to permit firemen to extinguish the blaze.

A terminal dispatcher said between 8 and 10 trains were delayed when power on the two inbound tracks was shut off at 11:11 p. m.

Some of the trains later were backed up to 125th St. and their passengers discharged. The others, which had not reached the 125th St. Station when the power was shut off, were emptied there after power was restored at 12:45 a. m. today.

The five passenger cars attached to the burning locomotive were also taken back to 125th St., while the locomotive was hauled into Grand Central for repairs.

Health for All

"... hold your breath, and if this fails, then gargle with a little water, and if the hiccup continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze.

More than 2,000 years ago, the philosopher Plato described this "sure cure" for hiccup. It is still being used, and so are a host of others ranging from sudden fright to the sticking of the head in a paper bag. Everyone has his favorite remedy and almost any of them can claim to be successful, because usually hiccup yields to simple remedies or none at all.

Hiccup is a sudden involuntary drawing-in of breath due to a spasm of the diaphragm. The "hics" come several times a minute and may be as rapid as two a second. They are the result of some irritation of the nerve pathways and may be caused by a disease of toxic condition, over-eating or drinking, or merely a fit of laughter. There have even been epidemics of hiccup which have been variously explained as mass hysteria or the result of a virus infection. When a patient suffering from disease develops hiccups, the condition can present serious problems. However, most of us are concerned only with that sudden embarrassing attack of "hics" for which we get anything but sympathy from our neighbors. If the attack doesn't end quickly under Plato's treatment, you might try light pressure on the eyeballs or the lower part of the throat, or hold a paper bag over your mouth and breathe in and out a few times.

If none of these remedies work, your doctor has a number of measures, one of which will probably turn the trick. Anti-spasmodic drugs and carbon dioxide inhalation are sometimes prescribed. In refractory cases, especially when the spasms are preventing other necessary treatment of the sick patient, phrenic nerve block or crush may be necessary.

Fortunately most cases of hiccup stop of themselves in a short time, no matter what remedy is tried.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST
(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

NOT A VERY SERIOUS ERROR

A reader tells me: "One of our office co-workers — a married woman — recently underwent an operation. The office staff took up a collection to buy her a gift. The woman, in charge of buying the present, bought a very pretty nightgown and bed jacket to match. Some of the men made quite a fuss when they found out what was sent and said that it was in very bad taste since the men in the office also contributed toward the present. The person who bought the present is very much upset over this and I promised I would write you for your opinion."

It is, perhaps, rather cavilling to criticize since the present was bought by a woman and, in all probability, sent without being shown to the men. But, at the same time, to have chosen something a little less intimate would have been in better taste.

Welcoming Daughter's Fiance

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will receive her engagement ring very soon and the thing that is puzzling me is the proper thing to say to her fiancé expressing approval of him. I would be grateful for your help in this matter.

Answer: If you know him well, you probably kiss him and say, "I couldn't choose a nicer son-in-law." If you do not know him very well, you could say, "The fact that Mary loves you makes me sure that her father and I will both share her opinion."

When Serving Refreshments

Dear Mrs. Post: When a tray with refreshments is passed to a room full of men and women, should all the women be served first and then the men?

Answer: Since it is very awkward to go around the room picking out the women and then make a second round, picking out the men, it is best to serve one or two women first, and then proffer the tray to the others as they happen to come.

Are you planning to serve a dinner alone? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her booklet No. 503, "Etiquette of Service," includes the table setting and serving rules. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

NOT A VERY SERIOUS ERROR

A reader tells me: "One of our office co-workers — a married woman — recently underwent an operation. The office staff took up a collection to buy her a gift. The woman, in charge of buying the present, bought a very pretty nightgown and bed jacket to match. Some of the men made quite a fuss when they found out what was sent and said that it was in very bad taste since the men in the office also contributed toward the present. The person who bought the present is very much upset over this and I promised I would write you for your opinion."

It is, perhaps, rather cavilling to criticize since the present was bought by a woman and, in all probability, sent without being shown to the men. But, at the same time, to have chosen something a little less intimate would have been in better taste.

Welcoming Daughter's Fiance

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will receive her engagement ring very soon and the thing that is puzzling me is the proper thing to say to her fiancé expressing approval of him. I would be grateful for your help in this matter.

Answer: If you know him well, you probably kiss him and say, "I couldn't choose a nicer son-in-law." If you do not know him very well, you could say, "The fact that Mary loves you makes me sure that her father and I will both share her opinion."

When Serving Refreshments

Dear Mrs. Post: When a tray with refreshments is passed to a room full of men and women, should all the women be served first and then the men?

Answer: Since it is very awkward to go around the room picking out the women and then make a second round, picking out the men, it is best to serve one or two women first, and then proffer the tray to the others as they happen to come.

Are you planning to serve a dinner alone? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her booklet No. 503, "Etiquette of Service," includes the table setting and serving rules. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Garraghan Against Arterial Highway

Following is a copy of a letter sent by R. W. Garraghan to N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce:

As a member of Kingston Chamber of Commerce, I think the Chamber should fight the proposed "Arterial Highway".

1. When the Thruway is completed it will eliminate all North and South traffic from our City streets.
2. When Rhinebeck Bridge is completed all East and West traffic will have access to the Thruway near Lake Katrine.
3. We will lose several hundred thousand dollars in assessments and this means much higher taxes to all.
4. The traffic jam on lower Broadway will be eliminated at 5 p. m. when Kingston men can find employment in the proposed IBM plant north of this city.
5. The City of Kingston is close to the debt limit now and can't afford the money.
6. If the City has any money to spend let them spend it on the School System and decent pay for all City employees.
7. In fact if they can find just a little spare money let them remove the snow from City streets.

Very truly yours,
RAY GARRAGHAN

Lunar Eclipse Is Due Tonight

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Tonight, if the skies are clear, you can watch a full eclipse of the moon.

Easterners will have plenty of time to finish the dishes before the earth's shadow turns the silvery moon to a deep copper at 9:17 p. m.

The darkest part of the eclipse lasts a half-hour but that's the middle of it. Some darkening of the moon can be noticed with the naked eye from 7:50 p. m. on, although the eclipse starts for astronomers at 6:40 p. m.

The far west won't see the beginning of the eclipse because the moon rises too late, but the rest of the heavenly show will be above its horizon.

Even though the earth's 6,000 mile diameter shadow completely blots out the 2,000-mile moon, enough sunlight spills around the earth's edges to give some color to the moon.

This is the last total eclipse of the moon until November, 1958, although there will be a partial eclipse of the sun next June.

The total part of tonight's eclipse ends at 9:47 p. m. although some darkening will be noticeable until 11:14 p. m. Officially, the eclipse ends 12:24 a. m. tomorrow.

Millions may see all or part of tonight's show in North and South America, the eastern Pacific, Europe, Africa, the Atlantic and the Arctic—everyone on "the night side of the earth" at the time of eclipse.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says it hopes to have enough trial polio vaccine for at least 500,000 second grade school children before June 1.

However, he says that "no polio vaccine will be available for the general public in 1954" and that "it will be 1955 before it can be demonstrated whether or not the vaccine is effective."

Lunar Eclipse Is Due Tonight

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Tonight, if the skies are clear, you can watch a full eclipse of the moon.

Easterners will have plenty of time to finish the dishes before the earth's shadow turns the silvery moon to a deep copper at 9:17 p. m.

The darkest part of the eclipse lasts a half-hour but that's the middle of it. Some darkening of the moon can be noticed with the naked eye from 7:50 p. m. on, although the eclipse starts for astronomers at 6:40 p. m.

The far west won't see the beginning of the eclipse because the moon rises too late, but the rest of the heavenly show will be above its horizon.

Even though the earth's 6,000 mile diameter shadow completely blots out the 2,000-mile moon, enough sunlight spills around the earth's edges to give some color to the moon.

This is the last total eclipse of the moon until November, 1956, although there will be a partial one next July, and a partial eclipse of the sun next June.

The total part of tonight's eclipse ends at 9:47 p. m. although some darkening will be noticeable until 11:14 p. m. Officially, the eclipse ends 12:24 a. m. tomorrow.

Millions may see all or part of tonight's show in North and South America, the eastern Pacific, Europe, Africa, the Atlantic and the Arctic—everyone on "the night side of the earth" at the time of eclipse.

Harry's Angels Rout Lincoln Park Inn, 98-56, to Win First Half

Heavy Ski Traffic at Belleayre Center

Despite sub-zero temperature on the slopes, Belleayre Ski Center enjoyed its second straight big weekend Saturday and Sunday. The photo shows skiers waiting for their turn.

Fifth Straight Insures Pennant With Game Left

Revived Bakers Upset Gardens

Harry's Angels captured first half honors in the YMCA "A" League Saturday by crushing Lincoln Park Inn, 98-56.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the Angels, who can afford to lose the next game on the first half slate.

In the companion piece, Victory Bakery's "new look" subdued Valley Gardens, 72-70, in overtime, in one of the most exciting games of the season.

With five seconds remaining Victory had the ball out of bounds under the Valley basket. The ball was thrown to Don Smith and in the excitement of the battle he scored a layup for Valley Gardens.

That sent the teams into overtime tied at 67-67. Chick Meehan scored three points for the Gardens in the extra play. Don Smith and Vince Peck accounted for a basket apiece for the winners.

Hoistons Hits 20

Lafayette "Champ" Hoistons and Bill Waterous shared scoring honors for the Angels with 20 points each. Big Bill Klein had 16. Bill East and Eric Goercke 14. Joe Murkoff's 14 and Jay Rider's 12 points sparked the Lincolns.

Chick Meehan, the Kerhonkson High basketball coach, led Valley Gardens with 22 points and Bob Kozlowski hit 20 for the Bakery. Don Smith had 18.

D. Harrison Cops Crosby

Pebble Beach, Calif., Jan. 18 (P)—Easy going E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, veteran trapper on golf's tournament trail, was $2,000 richer today and the champion of 1954 Bing Crosby 54-holer.

"This is a swell way to start the New Year," Harrison drawled. The old Arkansas Traveler of the fairways fronted his fellow professionals in the windup of the famed spar-with-par event with a three day total of 210. Harrison posted 71-68-71 respectively on three courses, Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach.

A crowd estimated at close to 20,000 saw the final round. Harrison led by two shots at the end of 36 holes. He three-putted the 18th green for a 7, two over par yesterday but edged out Jimmy Demaret by a single stroke.

Demaret, veteran from Houston, shot 73-68-70 for 211 and $1,250.

Third place and $1000 went to Tommy Bolt of Houston with 71-70-71—212.

53 Teams Sign for KBA Tourney

General Drop In Both Types Entries Noted

Tournament Starts Feb. 8 at Bowlodrome

A total of 53 teams have been registered to participate in the 17th annual city championships of the Kingston Bowling Association starting Monday, Feb. 8, at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

The 1954 entry reflects a drop of 41 teams from the 94 clubs entering the annual city competition last year.

Despite the drop, however, Man-nie Colao, this year's tournament manager, said this morning he was well satisfied with the results.

"With various elements strictly opposed to this year's competition from the start, the 53 team total has been very satisfactory and I look forward to a successful tournament."

"I would like to express my sincere thanks to all of the teams entering and wish them all the best of luck when the firing gets underway early in February. I know I speak on behalf of the other members of the executive board of the KBA when I say we salute those member teams and leagues who have supported the 1953-54 championships."

According to figures released this morning by Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary, 49 sets of doubles have been entered for the minor events schedule starting Saturday, Feb. 13, and continuing Feb. 14, also at the Bowlodrome. Last year 65 sets of doubles were entered.

In the singles competition, 87 KBA bowlers have entered, showing a drop of 30 from last year.

The all-events class has attracted 82 bowlers, a drop of 29 from last year, unofficial figures pointed out this morning.

Topping the list of teams entered for the February championships was the Ferraro Major League which is sending 10 teams out of its roster of 14. Next is the 14-team City Minor League which has entered seven teams. The Hercules League was the only 100 per cent candidate with all of its six teams entered.

The complete roster of the 53 teams follows:

Ferraro Major, 10; City Minor, 14; Hercules, 6; Ferraro Classic, 4; Central Rec Major, 4; Good Neighbor, 2; Booster, 2; Mercantile National, 2; Everybody's, 2.

Tavern Association, 2; Federation American, 2; Rosendale News, 1; Central Rec 1; Electrol 1; Mercantile American, 1; CYO, 1; Ferraro Mixer, 1; Hudson Valley 1; Independent 1; Central Rec Mixer, 1; Sunset, 1.

Draft Schedule Tonight

Members of the schedule committee of the KBA, George Robinson and Secretary Thomas will draft the complete schedule for the tournament tonight at the annual street, new headquarters of the bowling association. Members of the averages committee, Tom Orr, Jake Chichelsky, Jack Blinder and Hy Arlensky, also will meet at the uptown office tonight at 9 o'clock. The committee was originally scheduled to meet next Sunday afternoon.

Playoff Berth Real Struggle For the Rangers

(By The Associated Press)

The "new look" New York Rangers still faced a bitter struggle for fourth place, the National Hockey League's last Stanley Cup berth, today after scoring an unexpected victory over the front running Detroit Red Wings.

The Rangers, recently bolstered by the return of Edgar Laurade and the addition of Glen Sennor, whipped the Wings 3-2 last night. It was the second success against two defeats for Muzz Patrick, the new Ranger coach and only the club's second triumph over Detroit this season.

Meanwhile the fourth-place Boston Bruins downed the Montreal Canadiens 3-2 thereby maintaining their two point margin over the Rangers. Boston has played two less games than New York.

In the only other game, the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 for their ninth triumph in 10 games with the tailenders.

Superb goal tending by Johnny Bower and scores by Laprade, Paul Ronty and Wally Herge-sheimer gave the Rangers their much-needed win. Bower made 41 saves.

Shufeldt Hits 644

George Shufeldt's 644 series, with 180, 220, 244, paced the Lumberjacks to a 2971 series and wins with 846 and 1081. Whitey Crisp rolled 224-192-191-607. Larry Peterson fired 213-201-584 and George Robinson hit 212-200-589. Jackie Ferraro led Elstons with 171-198-247 for 616. Tom Carlinio 208-591, Frank Grimaldi 216-588.

Only Four Major Basketball Teams Boast Perfect Records

Undefeated KHS-NFA Meet Here Tuesday

Kingston High has a score to settle with Newburgh Academy in the battle of the unbeaten DUSO League basketball leaders Tuesday night at Kate Walton Field House.

The Maroons snapped NFA's 37-game winning streak in February, 1953, but the Goldbacks moved on to their fourth straight conference pennant.

If Kingston is to prevent a fifth straight sweep by the Goldbacks, a victory is a must tomorrow night. The Kiasmen reached a blazing peak against Poughkeepsie in their first big test last week. The feeling is they can repeat.

NFA still has its marvelous Mickey Burkoski and a newcomer, Harold Kaplan, who has taken up some of the slack created by the departure of the Spreer brothers.

Sammy Sneed, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., has finally ended the jinx that Roberto DeVicenzo of Argentina held over him in the Panama Open golf tournament.

Sneed set a new course record of 271 in winning the $7,500 tournament yesterday by six strokes over DeVicenzo. DeVicenzo had beaten Sneed the last two years and also held the former course record of 274.

Sneed, however, had the title—and $2,000 first prize—clinched after the first five holes which he shot in five under par. His card of 68 for the final 18 holes was four under par.

DeVicenzo, meanwhile, had one of his worst days with a 74 and his 277 total barely edged Pete Cooper of Tampa who shot a 278.

Holy Cross Topped

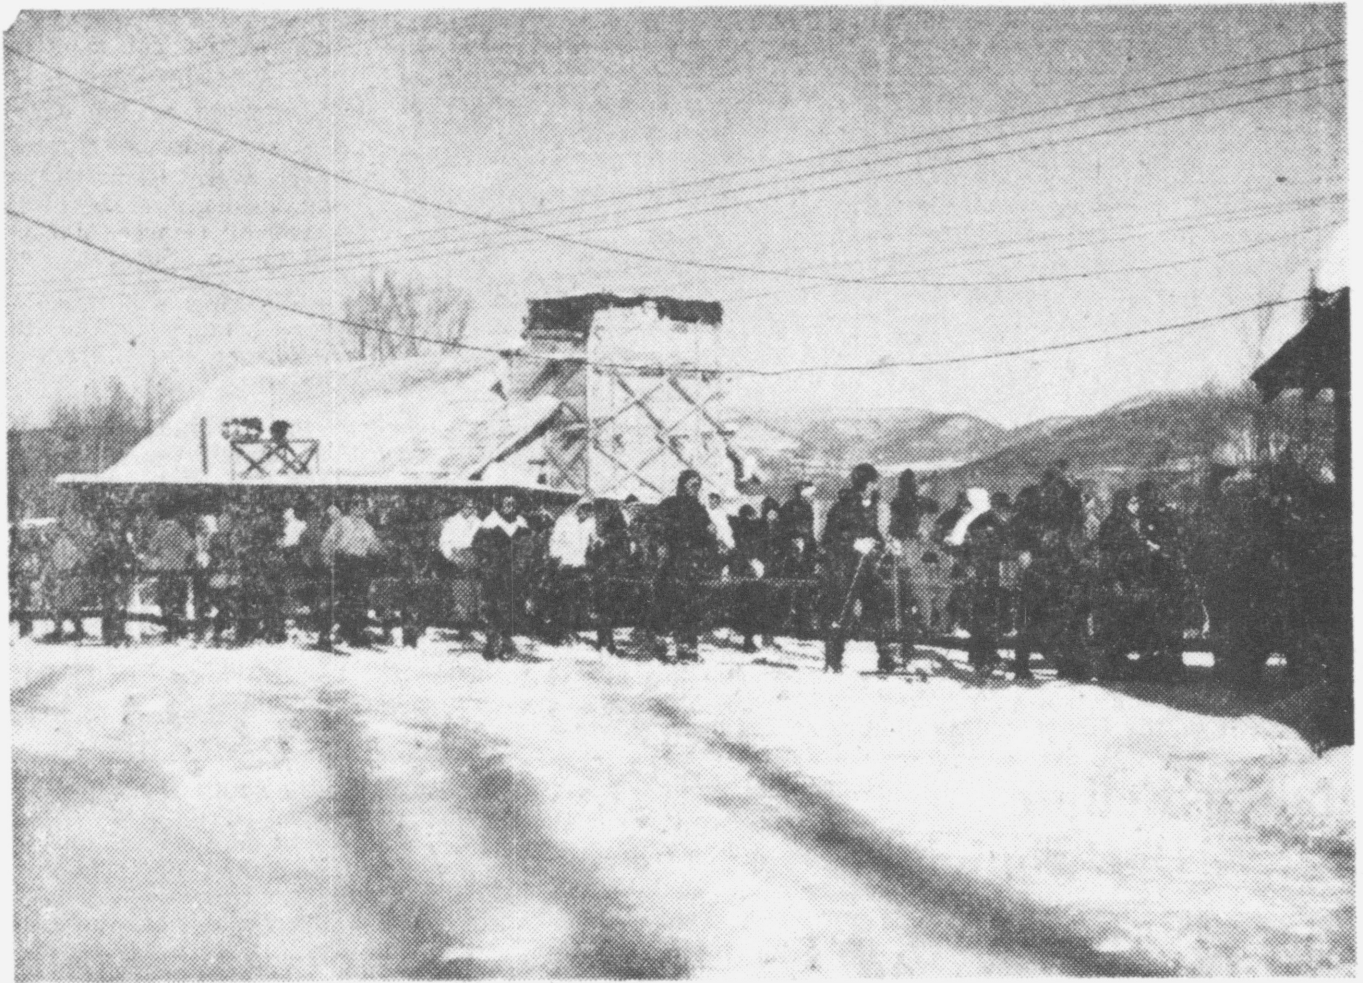

Holy Cross and George Washington, rated sixth and seventh, respectively, both suffered their first setbacks of the season Friday and likely will drop several notches in the next pool of sports-writers and sportscasters.

Otherwise, the first 10 teams justified their high ratings. Indiana's third-ranked Hoosiers continued to dominate play in

Bill Johnson Hits 602 In Tavern Association; D. Peterson Leads Mixer

Bill Johnson, the big man with the big bender, came out of his hibernation from the high scoring brackets to lead Saturday's Tavern Association tenpin session with 602.

Anchoring for the Royal Grill he topped solos of 166, 243 and 193. Tom Orr's 245 was high single in the league.

D. Harrison Cops Crosby

Pebble Beach, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—Easy going E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, veteran trouper on golf's tournament trail, was $2,000 richer today and the champion of 1954 Bing Crosby 34-holer.

"This is a swell way to start the New Year," Harrison drawled. The old Arkansas Traveler of the fairways fronted his fellow professionals in the windup of the famed spar-with-par event with a three day total of 210. Harrison posted 71-68-71 respectively on three courses, Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach.

A crowd estimated at close to 20,000 saw the final round. Harrison led by two shots at the end of 36 holes. He three-putted the 18th green for a 7, two over par yesterday but edged out Jimmy Demaret by a single stroke.

Demaret, veteran from Houston, shot 73-68-70 for 211 and $1,250.

Third place and $1000 went to Tommy Bolt of Houston with 71-70-71—212.

Spec Ebelheiser led the winners with 25 points. Mike Provenzano scored 14 and Eric Goerke 10. Neil Grant hit 20 for the losers.

Shandaken meets Back's Cedars of the YMCA League this week.

Rapp's Blast Dairymen From League's Top Spot

a 644 slam on 194, 216 and 234. Phil Vessace, No. 2 man, hit only 617 and Nick Lecce fired 634 on his home lanes.

Captain Charlie Manfro led Joneses with 235-189-242 for 666. John Bailey picked up the other Rapp's "600" with 224-192-212 for 628.

The Leaders

Newburgh Tooheys .. 43 11

Po'keepsie Cabs .. 42 12

Although outpointed by nearly 100 sticks, Rapp's Express stole the middle game from Jones Dairy Saturday and knocked the Dairymen out of the Hudson Valley League lead.

While the Expressmen salvaged the middle set, 977-909, on their home lanes, Newburgh Tooheys swept three from Liberty Goody's to lead Joneses by a half game in the loss column.

Poughkeepsie Cabs won three from Academy Center.

In the other local match, Schryver Lumber copped the first two games from Elstons, before dropping a close one 1032-1017.

Leskie Cracks 680

Joneses can blame veteran Frank "Boots" Leskie for their middle game woes. He cracked 236 and had other scores of 223 and 221 for a 680 blast to lead both squads.

The Dairymen, making a myth of the so-called toughness of all 5 and 6, breezed in the first set, 1012-956, and won the third 1060-946. But the middle one hurt, in spite of a 2981.

Fifth Straight Insures Pennant With Game Left

Revived Bakers Upset Gardens

Harry's Angels captured first half honors in the YMCA "A" League Saturday by crushing Lincoln Park Inn, 98-56.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the Angels, who can afford to lose the next game on the first half slate.

In the companion piece, Victory Bakery's "new look" subdued Valley Gardens, 72-70, in overtime, in one of the most exciting games of the season.

With five seconds remaining Victory had the ball out of bounds under the Valley basket. The ball was thrown to Don Smith and in the excitement of the battle he scored a layup for Valley Gardens.

That sent the teams into overtime tied at 67-67. Chick Meehan scored three points for the Gardens in the extra play. Don Smith and Vince Peck accounted for a basket apiece for the winners.

Holstein Hits 20

Lafayette "Champ" Holstein and Bill Waterous shared scoring honors for the Angels with 20 points each. Big Bill Klein had 16, Bill East 18 and Eric Goerke 14. Joe Murkoff's 14 and Jay Rider's 12 points sparked the Lincoln.

Chick Meehan, the Kerhonkson High basketball coach, led Valley Gardens with 22 points and Bob Kozlowski hit 20 for the Bakery. Don Smith had 18.

53 Teams Sign for KBA Tourney

General Drop In Both Types Entries Noted

Tournament Starts Feb. 8 at Bowlodrome

A total of 53 teams have been registered to participate in the 17th annual city championships of the Kingston Bowling Association starting Monday, Feb. 8, at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

The 1954 entry reflects a drop of 41 teams from the 94 clubs entering the annual city competition last year.

Despite the drop, however, Manie Colao, this year's tournament manager, said this morning he was well satisfied with the results.

"With various elements strictly opposed to this year's competition from the start, the 53 team total has been very satisfactory and I look forward to a successful tournament."

"I would like to express my sincere thanks to all of the teams entering and wish them all the best of luck when the firing gets underway early in February. I know I speak on behalf of the other members of the executive board of the KBA when I say we salute those member teams and leagues who have supported the 1953-54 championships."

49 in Doubles

According to figures released this morning by Irwin J. Thomas, KBA secretary, 49 sets of doubles have been entered for the minor events schedule starting Saturday, Feb. 13, and continuing Feb. 14 also, at the Bowlodrome. Last year 65 sets of doubles were entered.

In the singles competition, 87 KBA bowlers have entered, showing a drop of 30 from last year.

10 From Ferraro Major

Topping the list of teams entered for the February championships was the Ferraro Major League which is sending 10 teams out of its roster of 14. Next is the 14-team City Minor League which has entered seven teams. The Hercules League was the only 100 per cent candidate with all of its six teams entered.

The complete roster of the 53 teams follows:
Ferraro Major, 10; City Minor, 7; Hercules, 6; Ferraro Classic, 4; Central Rec Major 4; Good Neighbor, 2; Booster, 2; Mercantile National, 2; Everybody's, 2.
Tavern Association, 2; Federation American, 2; Rosendale News, 1; Central Rec 1; Electrol 1; Mercantile American, 1; CYO, 1; Ferraro Minor, 1; Hudson Valley 1; Independent 1; Central Rec Mixer, 1; Sunset, 1.

Draft Schedule Tonight

Members of the schedule committee of the KBA, George Robinson and Secretary Thomas will draft the complete schedule for the annual tournament tonight at 277 Park street, new headquarters of the bowling association. Members of the averages committee, Tom Orr, Jake Chichelsky, Jack Blinder and Hy Arlensky, also will meet at the uptown office tonight at 9 o'clock. The committee was originally scheduled to meet next Sunday afternoon.

Playoff Berth Real Struggle For the Rangers

(By The Associated Press)

The "new look" New York Rangers still faced a bitter struggle for fourth place, the National Hockey League's last Stanley Cup berth, today after scoring an unexpected victory over the front running Detroit Red Wings.

The Rangers, recently bolstered by the return of Edgar Laurade and the addition of Glen Sonmor, whipped the Wings 3-2 last night. It was the second success against the Detroit team in three games.

Meanwhile, the fourth-place Boston Bruins downed the Montreal Canadiens 3-2 thereby maintaining their two point margin over the Rangers. Boston has played two less games than New York.

In the only other game, the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 for their ninth triumph in 10 games with the tailenders.

Superb goal tending by Johnny Bower and scores by Laprade, Paul Ronty and Wally Hergeheimer gave the Rangers their much-needed win. Bower made 41 saves.

Undefeated KHS-NFA Meet Here Tuesday

Kingston High has a score to settle with Newburgh Academy in the battle of the unbeaten DUSO League basketball leaders Tuesday night at Kate Walton Field House.

The Maroons snapped NFA's 37-game winning streak in February, 1953, but the Goldbacks moved on to their fourth straight conference pennant.

If Kingston is to prevent a fifth straight sweep by the Goldbacks, a victory is a must tomorrow night. The Kiasmen reached a blazing peak against Poughkeepsie in their first big test last week. The feeling is they can repeat.

NFA still has its marvelous Mickey Burkoski and a newcomer, Harold Kaplan, who has taken up some of the slack created by the departure of the Spreer brothers.

Panama Open To Sam Snead

Panama City, Panama, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sammy Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., has finally ended the jinx that Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina held over him in the Panama Open golf tournament.

Snead set a new course record of 271 in winning the $7,500 tournament yesterday by six strokes over De Vicenzo. De Vicenzo had beaten Snead the last two years and also held the former course record of 274.

Snead, however, had the title—and $2,000 first prize—clinched after the first five holes which he shot in five under par. His card of 68 for the final 18 holes was four under par.

De Vicenzo, meanwhile, had one of his worst days with a 74 and his 277 total barely edged Pete Cooper of Tampa who shot a 278.

Detroit Schools Face Ban On Basketball Contests After Wave of Rowdiness

Lillard Leads All-Star Bowling; Cramer Is Fifth

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—A new-comer—southpaw Tess Johns of Cleveland—and an old pro—Bill Lillard of Chicago—were the ones to catch as the qualifying rounds of the National All-Star bowling tournament entered its third day.

The left-handed Mrs. Johns, took the lead in the women's field Sunday with a 1621 total for eight games—better than 202 average. Lillard, a transplanted Texan, rolled into the top spot in the men's division with 2584 for 12 games, a top-heavy 215 average.

The first day leader in the women's division, Teresa Wirtzberger of Louisville, Ky., slipped to third and Morris Cramer of Chicago who paced the men Saturday dropped back to fifth place.

In taking over the men's lead Lillard fired the high series of the day—1291. He came through with a 236 final game. Mrs. Johns only shot 787 but that was enough to overtake and pass Merle Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., who had 1614.

In the special matches, defending champion Marion Lade-well of Grand Rapids, Mich., leads Shirley Garmes of Palatine, Ill., by 17 pins, and Julie McMahon of Fairlawn, N. J., is 91 pins ahead of defending men's champion Don Carter of Detroit.

Suggs First In Earnings

Sea Island, Ga., Jan. 18 (AP)—After the first tournament of the 1954 women's golf circuit, little Louise Suggs of Atlanta today held the same spot among money winners that she held at the end of last season—at the top.

The 30-year-old Miss Suggs won top money of $875 with her steady 77-77-77-231 play in the Sea Island Women's Open tournament which ended yesterday.

Bev Hanson of Pasadena, Calif., was short with a 14-foot putt that would have given her a birdie on the 18th hole and a first place tie. Her final round 78 placed her in a tie for second, at 232, with Betty Hicks of Palm Springs, Calif., who also had a 78. They won $560.

Knicks Thrive In Overtime

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Knickerbockers aren't receiving time-and-a-half pay for overtime but their play in the extra sessions is keeping them on top of the eastern division heap in the National Basketball Association.

The Knicks edged the Boston Celtics 87-84 in two overtimes yesterday as Harry Gallatin hit on a field goal and Fred Schaut on two free throws during the vital five-minute period. Saturday night, Joe Lapchick's men defeated the Fort Wayne Pistons 88-82 in an overtime struggle.

New York remained two and one-half games in front of the Syracuse Nationals, who outscored the Rochester Royals 84-81, in other league contests. Fort Wayne came from behind to nip the Minneapolis Lakers 86-83 and the Baltimore Bullets defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 78-74. Center Connie Simmons paced the Knickerbockers with 23 points. But the turning point in the marathon came when Boston star Bob Cousy fouled out after two minutes of the second overtime. Cousy led both clubs in scoring with 24 points.

Olson Plans Two Non-Title Bouts

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Bobo Olson plans to take two fights before he defends his middleweight title against Kid Gavilan, April 2, at Chicago.

The champion, idle since Oct. 21 when he won the title by battering Randy Turpin, boxes Joe Rindone of Roxbury, Mass., Saturday at San Francisco on the Saturday night fights (ABC-TV).

Although Olson will be a heavy favorite to win, Rindone holds 1953 victories over Pierre Langlois and Joey De John. In fact, he sent De John into retirement with a second round TKO Nov. 23 at Syracuse.

Olson will take another fight in March, no opponent named yet; before the big money match with the Cuban Kead.

Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., and Rocky Casillo of Chicago, a pair of youngsters anxious to move up into the first 10 of the welter class, top the Friday show at Madison Square Garden (TV-NBC, radio-ABC).

Since losing to Chico Vejar and Danny Giovannelli early in 1953, Martinez has won five in a row, including a decision over Vejar, Nov. 20.

Casillo stopped Giovannelli and lost to Joey Klein in his two New York appearances. His record is impressive, winning 26 of 29 with 17 knockouts. He was one of the busiest boxers in the trade last year with a 12-3 record for 15 bouts.

Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn's "house of upsets," has a good welter match tonight between Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn and Freddie (Babe) Herman of Los Angeles.

Hans Schmidt-Gunkel Bout Slated Saturday

Hans Schmidt, most villainous of all the wrestlers, will headline a three-match wrestling card at Kingston Auditorium Saturday night, January 23, it was announced today.

The big fellow with the ham-like hands who has caused more ructions than any other wrestler now operating, is to take on Ray Gunkel, protege of former heavy-weight boxing champion Jack Dempsey, for a scheduled two out of three fall battle.

Gunkel, one time Purdue University football lineman and an amateur wrestler during his college career, has been hankering for a match with Schmidt for several months. Schmidt will have a decided advantage in height and reach, but Gunkel who has come along rapidly in the past year, figures he has the stamina and skill to offset Hans' rough tactics. One of Gunkel's best maneuvers is a flying body scissors which he calls "Leaping Lena." It usually comes when he bounces off the ropes in what his opponent believes is to be a flying block.

Although Gunkel prefers grappling, Dempsey has been teaching him how to toss a mean right and if Hans is his usually rough self, Ray may try to quiet him with it. Two more bouts are being arranged to round out the show.

Detroit Schools Face Ban On Basketball Contests After Wave of Rowdism

Lillard Leads All-Star Bowling; Cramer Is Fifth

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—A newcomer—southpaw Tess Johns of Cleveland—and an old pro—Bill Lillard of Chicago—were the ones to catch as the qualifying rounds of the National All-Star bowling tournament entered its third day.

The left-hander, Mrs. Johns, took the lead in the women's field Sunday with a 1621 total for eight games—better than 202 average. Lillard, a transplanted Texan, rolled into the top spot in the men's division with 2584 for 12 games, a top-heavy 215 average.

The first day leader in the women's division, Teresa Wirtzberger of Louisville, Ky., slipped to third and Morris Cramer of Chicago who paced the men Saturday dropped back to fifth place.

In taking over the men's lead Lillard fired the high series of the day—1291. He came through with a 236 final game.

Mrs. Johns only shot 787 but that was enough to overtake and pass Merle Matthews of Long Beach, Calif., who had 1614.

In the special matches, defending champion Marion Ladwig of Grand Rapids, Mich., leads Shirley Garmis of Palatine, Ill., by 17 pins, and Junie McMahon of Fairlawn, N. J., is 91 pins ahead of defending men's champion Don Carter of Detroit.

Sea Island, Ga., Jan. 18 (AP)—After the first tournament of the 1954 women's golf circuit, little Louise Suggs of Atlanta today held the same spot among money winners that she held at the end of last season—at the top.

The 30-year-old Miss Suggs won top money of $875 with her steady 77-77-77-231 play in the Sea Island Women's Open tournament which ended yesterday.

Bev Hanson of Pasadena, Calif., was short with a 14-foot putt that would have given her a birdie on the 18th hole and a first place tie. Her final round 78 placed her in a tie for second, at 232, with Betty Hicks of Palm Springs, Calif., who also had a 78. They won $560.

London, Jan. 18 (AP)—A one-day strike by members of Britain's Communist-dominated electrical trades union today hit atomic projects, airports, power stations and other strategic sites. Union leaders said the first reports indicate that nearly all of the 30,000 electricians ordered out would obey the strike for higher pay. The men are engaged in contracting work. Some 170,000 other members of the union are not affected.

editor of Kingston newspapers for 25 years, will continue in that capacity, along with members of the newspaper's staff.

Chosen as "The Outstanding Young Man of 1951" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Young Men's Board of Trade of New York City, Orin Lehman, 34, has had a remarkable career.

He was a liaison pilot for the U. S. Army's 99th Division in the Second World War. Awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Purple Heart, he was discharged from Walter Reed General Hospital as Captain in 1947.

Then, through 1951, he was trained in all departments of Lehman Bros., of New York City, working the last two years as an economist. He lives at 530 Park avenue, New York. He is president of Odyssey Production Company.

President of Group
Lehman's interest in people is widespread. He founded and is president of JOB (Just One Break) an organization which has placed over 2,500 disabled persons in jobs. He was a co-founder and is a member of the board of "Abilities" whose factory employs 65 disabled persons most of whom had not worked before.

A director of Montefiore Hospital, and of the National Society for Crippled Children, Mr. Lehman is treasurer of the Sister Kinney Institute of New York, the National Urban League and the Joint Defense Appeal.

A member of the executive group of the American Jewish Committee, Lehman also is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and of the Public Advisory Board to the President of the Mutual Security Administration.

In 1951 he went on an inspection tour of all the ECA missions in the East for the Public Advisory Board. He authored the Lehman Report of Southeast Asia.

Lehman has been interested in newspapers since his days at Taft School where he received an award for most total points for activities including student government, athletics, publications and scholarship. He received his A. B. in psychology at Princeton where his activities also included athletics and publications.

He was treasurer for Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.'s first campaign when he ran on an independent ticket for member of Congress.

Seymour Will

president of the independent union, countered the attack by accusing the ILLA-AFL of using coercion and saying: "they have the goons."

In yet another weekend development in the "scramble for the ILLA" announced that at the suggestion of John L. Lewis it would seek to consolidate small locals in an attempt to push some of the objectionable leadership from the union.

That announcement came after it had been reported that the United Mine Workers' position had demanded a clean-up of the dock situation as a condition for giving it further financial aid.

ILA Attorney George A. Brenner said Lewis had "handed down no edicts" but explained that Lewis had suggested the consolidation.

Brenner explained that members of the locals would have to vote on the consolidation, which, he said, "is aimed at putting our house in order" and permitting the ILA to present "a better front."

President to Ask

plans for the expanded use of farm surpluses abroad, in advance of the Chief Executive's budget message which is scheduled to go before Congress Thursday. The secretary said that this message would set forth the President's new proposal.

Details of how the overseas surplus program would be handled were not specified in Benson's statement.

He did say the billion dollars worth of surpluses would be used over a three year period to "complement our general program of economic and technical development" abroad.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said in advance of Benson's appearance that he wanted to know "just who suggested President Eisenhower's farm program and why." Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the committee billed Benson's testimony as an "outlook for agriculture."

Aiken said the new farm program which Eisenhower outlined in a special message to Congress a week ago was certain to figure in the questioning of Benson.

Based on Study

The President said the program, which has stirred up heated opposition from many Democrats and some Republicans, was based on "the most thorough and comprehensive study ever made of the farm problem and of governmental farm programs."

The most controversial feature of the program would be the scrapping of the present rigid government supports for basic field crops, other than tobacco, and their replacement by flexible supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

A standard said by law to be fair to farmers in terms of prices prevailing for non-farm goods. Present law requires 90 per cent support for basic crops.

Ellender, with reference to the proposal for flexible supports, said in an interview:

"To me the new proposals seem contradictory. While basic crops like cotton, wheat and corn are put under a sliding scale of supports from 75 to 90 per cent, tobacco and some others continue about the same."

Under Eisenhower's proposals, supports would be relatively high in times of scarcity, to encourage production, and low in times of surplus, to discourage it.

"It seems to me that there is no need to raise supports when there is a scarcity," Ellender said. "The market normally would eliminate need for any supports."

Tito's Top Aide

that she had not been a wartime partisan fighter like many of the other leaders. He pointed out she was only 13 at the time of the war.

In his unsuccessful defense before the Central Committee yesterday, Djilas insisted his article was only harmless "satire."

Tito, hurrying back from a vacation in Slovenia, grimly took the stand against his former close friend and accused him of seeking to break down party discipline.

Tito said Djilas' articles created "enormous harm, not only to the party but to the unity of the country."

The committee pushed through a resolution declaring that Djilas "isolated himself personally from practical work and provided an ideological basis for shattering of the ideological and organizational unity of the Yugoslav League of Communists—and indeed for its liquidation."

He was ordered expelled from the Central Committee, stripping of rank in the party executive and barred from future functions in the Communist League.

Djilas proposed in his Borba articles that the Communist party become more of a "discussion group" and less an active organ of administration. He also called for modern-day revaluation of the basic principles of Marx and Lenin. He even went so far as to charge that some administration leaders had sought special privileges.

But Not Into Business
Eisenhower said the government need not and should not go into the insurance business to furnish the protection which private and non-profit organization now provide.

"But the government," the President added, "can and should work with them to study and devise better insurance protection to meet the public need."

"I recommend the establishment of a limited federal reinsurance service to encourage private and non-profit health insurance organization to offer broader health protection to more families. This service would reinsure the special additional risks involved in such broader protection. It can be launched with a capital fund of 25 million dollars provided by the government, to be retired from reinsurance fees."
